Form 425
April 16, 2015

FILED BY NOKIA CORPORATION
PURSUANT TO RULE 425 UNDER THE SECURITIES ACT OF 1933

SUBJECT COMPANY: ALCATEL-LUCENT

COMMISSION FILE NO. 001-11130

Dear colleagues,

On the eve of Nokia's one-hundred and fiftieth anniversary, I am pleased to be able to share some very exciting news.

Today we announced that we have reached an agreement to join with Alcatel-Lucent, a company with a history that is as long, proud and storied as our own; a company with deep roots in France, the United States and many other countries; a company that we are proud to bring into the Nokia family.

We plan to keep the Nokia name, but let there be no doubt that we want to share the best of both companies as we come together. With this transaction we expect to create an innovation leader in next generation technology and services for an IP connected world - a company with a strong presence in many parts of the world and with deep European heritage.

We aim to create a global leader in innovation with deep expertise in the technologies of tomorrow. The combined company will have unparalleled innovation capabilities with Alcatel Lucent's iconic Bell Labs, Nokia's FutureWorks as well as Nokia Technologies, which will stay as a separate business with a clear focus on licensing and the incubation of new technologies. Just think about the possibilities of more than forty-thousand R&D employees and an annual R&D spend of 4.7 billion Euros (in 2014).

The combined group would be headquartered in Finland, with strategic business locations and major R&D centers in France, and many other countries including Germany, the United States and China.

The scope and scale of the combined product portfolio are impressive. We will be able to offer the most complete mobile and fixed network offer with all-IP, cloud-based technology, supported by a strengthened Global Services organization. Our strengthened presence in all geographies - particularly in the United States, China, Europe and Asia-Pacific - would give us the scale and reach to better serve our customers global needs. The combination of these factors allows us to address new market opportunities and improve our long-term growth.

Edgar Filing: ALCATEL LUCENT - Form 425

As you all well know, convergence is happening rapidly and making significant demands on the networks of the future. Only a company with innovation at its core will be able to meet these next generation needs. Nokia will be that kind of company and now is the time for it. This company will be a global powerhouse of networks know-how. We foster a high performance culture with strong values and unwavering commitment to ethics and integrity. We aspire to be a great place for ongoing learning and development. We will continue to attract and retain the best talent.

Please note that no organizational changes resulting from this announcement will take place until after the closing of this transaction, which is, of course, subject to approval by Nokia shareholders, regulatory approvals in a number of jurisdictions, completion of relevant works council consultations, and other customary closing conditions. We expect the acquisition to close in the first half of 2016, at the earliest. Until then, Nokia and Alcatel-Lucent are two entirely separate companies and will continue to operate as such, and we must remain totally focused on our business and our customers. In fact, we remain competitors until we are one and that is only when the transaction closes.

We have been through a lot of change over the years, and some have suggested to me that our people must have change fatigue. My response has been that while we have our moments of needing to take a breath, I have never worked with a more motivated and engaged team, a team that finds ways, time and time again, to find new energy and new ambition.

Let's not lose this remarkable spirit as we embark on yet another new journey. These are exciting times and we will continue to be at the forefront of some of the most interesting technological changes in the world changes that will put us clearly at the heart of enabling the human possibilities of technology.

From my perspective, I have no doubt that this is the right deal, with the right logic, at the right time. I hope you agree.

Warm regards,

Rajeev

Ps: We have created a dedicated site on the Corporate Intranet where you can find news updates and further information on today's announcement alongside answers to your most urgent questions. It can be found here. We will share further details, and make further announcements, as the transaction progresses.
