(i) Joint press release dated October 22, 2012, issued by Cascade and TICO.

Toyota Industries Corporation to Acquire Cascade Corporation

October 22, 2012, Kariya, Japan, and Fairview, Oregon – Toyota Industries Corporation (Tokyo Stock Exchange: 6201) (“TICO”) and Cascade Corporation (NYSE: CASC) (“Cascade”) today announced that they have entered into a definitive agreement under which TICO will acquire 100 percent of the shares of Cascade for $65 per share in cash in a transaction valued at $759 million pursuant to a tender offer. The purchase price represents a 23 percent premium over Cascade’s volume-weighted average share price for the 60 days ending October 19, 2012. The transaction has been unanimously approved by the Boards of Directors of both TICO and Cascade.

The transaction will create a leading global materials handling business with a wider spectrum of products and a valuable platform for growth. Based in Japan, TICO is a leading global materials handling, automotive, textile machinery and logistics company and a leading manufacturer of lift trucks, with a robust product lineup. Based in Fairview, Oregon, Cascade is a leading international manufacturer and distributor of materials handling attachments and replacement parts for the lift truck and construction industries worldwide. Under the terms of the transaction, Cascade will become a wholly owned subsidiary of TICO.

Robert C. Warren, Jr., President and CEO of Cascade, said, “Our company has concluded that the offer being made by Toyota Industries Corporation, one of the world’s most admired companies, represents an ideal combination of attractive return to our shareholders, continuing service to our customers, and stability and opportunity for our employees.”

Tetsuro Toyoda, TICO President and Representative Director, said, “Cascade Corporation has a strong reputation for providing customers with the latest technology in materials handling attachments for lift trucks and is widely considered to be the innovative leader with high-quality, customizable products. We’ve long known Cascade as a reliable and world-class supplier to our materials handling business, and we look forward to better meeting our customers’ logistical needs by broadening our lift truck business. We remain committed to serving all of Cascade’s customers.”

Cascade’s President and CEO, Robert C. Warren, Jr., will continue to lead the business after the closing of the transaction, and it will remain based out of Fairview, Oregon.

Under the terms of the agreement, it is anticipated that TICO will commence a tender offer for all of the outstanding shares of Cascade at the price of $65 no later than November 5, 2012. The closing of the tender offer is conditioned upon satisfaction of customary closing conditions, including Cascade's shareholders tendering at least a majority of Cascade's outstanding common shares (on a fully diluted basis) and clearance by applicable regulatory authorities. The agreement also provides that the parties will effect, subject to customary conditions, a merger to be completed following the completion of the tender offer, which would result in all shares not tendered being converted into the right to receive the same price as is paid in the tender offer. The transaction is not subject to a financing condition.

The Board of Directors of Cascade has agreed to recommend that Cascade’s shareholders tender their shares in the tender offer. In addition, Robert C. Warren, Jr. and Warren Holdings, LLC, a family-managed limited liability company, have entered into agreements with TICO to support the transaction and to tender their shares in the tender offer that cover approximately 14% of Cascade’s outstanding shares.

The transaction is expected to close by the end of calendar year 2012.

Nomura Securities is serving as exclusive financial advisor to TICO and White & Case LLP is serving as legal advisor in connection with the transaction. BofA Merrill Lynch is serving as exclusive financial advisor to Cascade, and Miller Nash LLP is serving as Cascade's legal advisor.

(ii) Letter to Cascade employees dated October 22, 2012.

October 22, 2012

To All Cascade Employees,

We are pleased to share with you that our company has entered into a definitive agreement to be acquired by Toyota Industries Corporation (“TICO”). This is an exciting step for us and I want to share with you why we believe this is such a great opportunity for Cascade.

As you know, our companies have a long history of working together as we have been a major supplier to TICO’s lift truck business for many years. This transaction will create a leading global materials handling business with a wider spectrum of products and a valuable platform for growth that provides long-term opportunity for all of us.

While you’ll hear more about TICO today and in the coming weeks, I want to emphasize that it is one of the most admired companies in the world and shares our high standards for quality and innovation. TICO is a leading global materials handling, automotive, textile machinery and logistics company and is the top manufacturer of lift trucks with a robust product lineup. Their interest in us is a very high compliment to all of you and the very successful company you have helped to build.

This is a significant milestone in our company’s nearly 70-year history. I know that change brings many questions, and I want to address them here. First and foremost, this news is not expected to bring any changes to your day-to-day work and no significant changes to the company’s operations are anticipated. Tomorrow will look very much like today and it is business as usual. Upon completion of the transaction, we will be a wholly owned subsidiary of TICO. We will continue to be headquartered in Fairview, Oregon. This means that we will operate as a separate, independent subsidiary with TICO as the parent company, and we will not be folded into one of its divisions.

In terms of management, TICO has asked Andy and me to continue to lead the company following completion of the transaction. There are no plans to change our management. As you all know, both Andy and I are passionate about the success of our company, and our commitment to you, our business and our customers remains unchanged.

Edgar Filing: CASCADE CORP - Form SC14D9C

Additionally, our relationships with our customers, dealers and suppliers remain as important as ever. I'll continue to count on all of you to serve our OEM and dealer customers with the highest value products available on the market and ensure that they continue to receive the same service that they have come to expect from us.

To help answer specific questions, we have prepared an FAQ, which is enclosed with this letter. If you have further inquiries or concerns, please do not hesitate to ask your manager, submit them by e-mail to questions@cascade.com, or call in to one of the telephone Q&A sessions today, which will be held on the hour from 10:00 am PT to 4:00 pm PT. If you wish to join one of these sessions, please call 866-394-4146 or 480-629-1624 and use access code 382405329.

We will be engaged in an ongoing dialogue with our managers to inform and update them as we move forward in this transaction.

As I mentioned previously, this is a significant milestone for all of us and we are ready and excited to usher Cascade into this new era. TICO's enthusiasm about Cascade reflects your dedication and hard work. Each one of you will play a critical role in the ongoing success and growth of our business. I sincerely appreciate all that you do.

We believe this transaction will ensure continued success for our company, long-term stability and opportunity for our employees, and will continue to build on our highly valued Cascade culture, which is the foundation of our success.

Yours sincerely,

(iii) Cascade employee Q&A dated October 22, 2012.

QUESTION & ANSWERS

Q. Why sell Cascade?

When Toyota Industries Corporation (“TICO”) indicated their interest in acquiring Cascade, we carefully evaluated the possibility against the criteria we always use when evaluating the impact of potential strategic directions we can take. Those criteria include;

- (1) Continuing financial success and return to our shareholders,
- (2) Long-term stability and expanded opportunity for our employees, and
- (3) Continuity and improvement in the products and services we deliver to our customers.

After much careful consideration, we came to the conclusion that joining TICO offered the best opportunity to ensure the long-term ability to meet these objectives. TICO is also one of the world’s most admired and successful companies, recognized for excellence. Their enthusiasm for acquiring Cascade is a very high compliment to all of you and the very successful company you have built.

Q. How will the new ownership affect us personally, in terms of our jobs, salary and benefits?

No changes in your job, salary and benefits are planned as a result of the new ownership. Of course, there is always the possibility of changes in the future due to a variety of factors, regardless of who owns the company.

Q. Will we retain the same executive team?

Yes, we are retaining the same executive team. TICO has asked that Bob and Andy remain with the company. Bob and Andy will lead the transition, in conjunction with the entire executive management team. New ownership will have very little impact on the way we do business.

Q. Will any Cascade locations be closed?

No. We do not intend to close any locations. A very important part of the value we bring to our customers is staying very closely connected and involved in all of the markets we serve. In fact, we intend to continue our work to expand our global locations as new markets emerge.

Q. Will we need to change our current processes?

It's important to note that many of our processes are already based on the principles of Toyota's Lean Manufacturing System, although they may not be specifically identified as such. We have a very strong culture of continuous improvement. If we can benefit from adopting more of the Toyota Way processes, we will certainly do so.

Q. Will Cascade still be publicly traded?

Our shares will no longer be publicly traded once the transaction is completed. All Cascade shares will be owned by TICO.

Q. Will we become part of Toyota Lift Trucks?

No, we will be a separately operated company owned by TICO, Toyota Lift Trucks' parent company, once the transaction is completed. In addition to Toyota Lift Trucks, TICO owns many other companies that manufacture a wide range of industrial products sold to automobile, materials handling and the textile industries.

Q. Will we still be Cascade Corporation or will our name change?

No. Our name will not be changed – we will still be Cascade Corporation. Cascade is one of the best-known companies and brands in our business. Keeping Cascade as both a brand and a company is a very effective way to assure our customers, employees and vendors that we will remain the same company going forward.

Q. Will new ownership change our strategic direction?

We have no immediate plans to change our strategic direction. However, if new opportunities for our company are identified in the future, you can expect that we will give careful consideration to capturing those opportunities.

Q. How will TICO's ownership affect our relationship with other lift truck OEM's and other OEM dealers?

TICO is very committed to continuing to serve all of our OEM and dealer customers. The way we serve our customers tomorrow will be exactly like we serve them today. We are giving our OEM and dealer customers every assurance that we remain committed to earning their business by providing the best combination of products, price and service in the lift truck industry.

Q. Will Toyota Lift Trucks get special treatment?

No. We certainly hope that Toyota Lift Trucks will remain a highly valued customer in the future as they are today. However, they will not receive any competitive preference or advantage as a result of our new ownership.

Q. Will Toyota Lift Trucks and Toyota dealers be required to do business with Cascade?

No. It is very important to note that Toyota Lift Trucks and Toyota dealers will not be required to do business with Cascade. As with every customer, we must continue to earn their business, just as we have in the past.

Q. Will confidentiality of customer information be maintained?

Yes, nothing will change in the way we deal with our dealer or OEM customers. TICO recognizes and appreciates the fact that one of the core values that makes Cascade so unique and successful is absolute integrity in the way we deal with each and every customer.

Q. Who will be telling our customers about the change in ownership and what will they be told?

Over the coming weeks, our sales and senior management people will be reaching out to all of our customers. The core message will be that Cascade remains committed to being their supplier of choice and that the only changes we expect to see will be ones that are beneficial to them.

Q. What should we tell our customers, vendors and outside contacts?

We want to tell them that this is an exciting move for the company that will improve our ability to expand our business and serve our customers. We want to make sure all the people we work with know that Cascade will be the same, and perhaps an even better operator tomorrow than it is today. We want to let them know that Cascade and TICO share the same commitment to customer satisfaction, employee satisfaction, quality and value.

Q. Who can I talk to if I have individual questions and concerns that I wish to discuss privately?

If you have any individual questions and concerns that you would like to discuss privately, we have established a confidential email address: questions@cascade.com. Your questions will be answered on a completely confidential basis. For more general questions, you may also ask your manager. We will be keeping your managers regularly informed and updated as we make this transition.

Q. When will we become part of TICO?

We anticipate that the transaction will take between eight and ten weeks to be completed. We expect to formally become part of TICO by the end of this year once the transaction is completed.

This means that we will operate as a separate, independent subsidiary with TICO as the parent company, and we will not be folded into one of its divisions.

In terms of management, TICO has asked our COO Andy Anderson and me to continue to lead the company. There are no plans to change our management team as a result of this transaction. Both Andy and I are passionate about the success of our company, and our commitment to you, our business and our employees remains unchanged.

In the coming weeks, our sales people will be meeting with you to provide you with further information.
