ANGLOGOLD ASHANTI CHAIRMAN AND DEPUTY CHAIRMAN APPEAL TO IMF REGARDING GOLD SALES

In their letter to shareholders in the AngloGold Ashanti Annual Report for 2004, chairman Russell Edey and deputy chairman James Motlatsi commented on the concern that the International Monetary Fund (IMF) might sell part of its substantial gold reserves in order to write down the debt of heavily indebted poorer countries. This, they said, had given rise to a “degree of uncertainty” in the gold market.

Referring to 1999 when the same scheme was proposed, they pointed out that a means was devised to realise value from the IMF gold reserves through the revaluation of a portion of the IMF gold holdings from their low balance sheet value of $42 per ounce to the spot price for the metal at that time.

“This achieved the IMF purpose without impacting on either the gold market or the price and we urge the IMF to act in a way on this occasion which will achieve its certainly worthwhile objective without severe and negative consequences for the gold producing developing economies,” they said.

The physical demand for gold during 2004 had showed some encouraging moves in the important markets of Turkey and Vietnam, and sustained demand in India. In China, for the first time in several years, sales of gold jewellery grew with the introduction to that market of modern, 18-carat gold jewellery product.

“With these high population economies achieving growth in the high single digits, there seems good reason for cautious optimism about future demand and pricing for all commodities including gold,” they said.
