Item 4. Purpose of Transaction.

The Reporting Persons believe their investment has significant potential for increased value. Representatives of the Reporting Persons have, on several occasions, discussed with the Company's management several strategies that the Company could pursue to increase shareholder value. The Reporting Persons also delivered a letter to the Company on February 2, 2006, which, among other things, expressed concern over the Company's stock price and urged the Company to retain an experienced investment bank to evaluate all strategic alternatives to maximize shareholder value and to expand the Company's board of directors to include new independent directors who have strong industry backgrounds and are sensitive to shareholder concerns. The Reporting Persons have also communicated to the Company that such new directors should have significant capital markets expertise. A copy of the letter was included in a press release issued by the Reporting Persons which is attached to this filing as Exhibit 1. The Company has yet to inform shareholders of significant progress the Company has made in implementing any of the Reporting Persons' suggestions. During the period from February 2, 2006 to date, the Reporting Persons have had numerous contacts with the Company by telephone, e-mail, and in meetings, and have discussed with management and certain board members the Company's business and progress toward addressing the concerns and issues raised by the Reporting Persons. The Reporting Persons have also provided the Company with the names and backgrounds of three potential director candidates.

If the Company does not demonstrate to the Reporting Persons that it has made meaningful progress toward addressing the suggestions and concerns communicated in their February 2, 2006 letter and subsequent contacts with management and board members, the Reporting Persons intend to pursue all available alternatives. Such alternatives could include, without limitation: communicating with other shareholders of the Company regarding the Company, its business, prospects and alternatives to maximize shareholder value; nominating one or more individuals for election to the board; making one or more proposals for adoption by shareholders (including proposals to improve the Company's governance or to amend the Company's organizational documents); seeking to call a special meeting of stockholders to elect directors and/or approve shareholder proposals; soliciting proxies in support of the election of directors and/or shareholder proposals at an annual or special meeting of shareholders; and proposing an extraordinary corporate transaction, such as a merger, reorganization, recapitalization or liquidation, involving the Company or any of its subsidiaries, or a sale or transfer of a material amount of assets of the Company or any of its subsidiaries, which transaction may involve the Reporting Persons or third parties unrelated to the Reporting Persons. The Reporting Persons may also purchase additional Common Stock in the open market, in privately negotiated transactions or otherwise; alone or in conjunction with others, seek to acquire, the Company or substantially all of its assets or outstanding securities, including by merger, tender offer or stock or asset purchase; or sell all or a portion of the Common Stock now owned or hereafter acquired to take any and all actions that they may deem appropriate to maximize the value of their investment in the Company in light of their general investment policies, market conditions, subsequent developments affecting the Company and the general business and future prospects of the Company.
