DRAFT

February 1, 2005

The announced merger of SBC and AT&T will benefit California workers, middle-class families and our economy.

SBC and AT&T have a rich tradition of making affordable telephone service available to Californians. The combination of these two companies, with their complimentary services, products and customer bases, will encourage competition and innovation, investment and growth. In the end, its consumers who will benefit from new technology at competitive prices. I am also hopeful the combined company will remain committed to the California workers who have helped build the separate companies into the successes they are today.

The telecommunications industry is undergoing profound change. Traditional telecommunications companies face intense competition from cable, wireless, and Internet providers. The proposed combination of SBC and AT&T reflects the need for companies to have strong resources to deliver tomorrow's technology in today's global economy.

Cautionary Language Concerning Forward-Looking Statements

Information set forth in this document contains financial estimates and other forward-looking statements that are subject to risks and uncertainties, and actual results might differ materially. Such statements include, but are not limited to, statements about the benefits of the business combination transaction involving SBC and AT&T Corporation, including future financial and operating results, the new company's plans, objectives, expectations and intentions and other statements that are not historical facts. Such statements are based upon the current beliefs and expectations of SBC's and AT&T's management and are subject to significant risks and uncertainties. Actual results may differ from those set forth in the forward-looking statements.

The following factors, among others, could cause actual results to differ from those set forth in the forward-looking statements: the ability to obtain governmental approvals of the transaction on the proposed terms and schedule; the failure of AT&T shareholders to approve the transaction; the risk that the businesses will not be integrated successfully; the risk that the cost savings and any other synergies from the transaction may not be fully realized or may take longer to realize than expected; disruption from the transaction making it more difficult to maintain relationships with customers, employees or suppliers; competition and its effect on pricing, spending, third-party relationships and revenues. Additional factors that may affect future results are contained in SBC's filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC"), which are available at the SEC's Web site <http://www.sec.gov>. SBC disclaims any obligation to update and revise statements contained in this presentation based on new information or otherwise.

This document may contain certain non-GAAP financial measures. Reconciliations between the non-GAAP financial measures and the GAAP financial measures are available on SBC's Web site at www.sbc.com/investor\_relations.
