Senior Manager Talking Points for Employee Discussions

Overview

- The merger with PPG's chlor-alkali and derivatives business will be transformative for Georgia Gulf, creating a new Fortune 500 company that will be a leading integrated chemicals and building products company. The combined size and strength of the two organizations and our cost-advantaged position due to North American natural gas will provide opportunities for investments in the future as we continue on our path toward executing our strategies.

The Transaction

- On July 19, Georgia Gulf announced that we have entered into a definitive agreement under which PPG will separate and then merge its chlor-alkali and derivatives business with Georgia Gulf
- The merger which is valued at approximately $2.1 billion will create one of the world's leading integrated chemicals and building products companies

Edgar Filing: GEORGIA GULF CORP /DE/ - Form 425

- The transaction is expected to be completed in late 2012 or early 2013 subject to receipt of the customary approvals by regulators and approval by Georgia Gulf shareholders

Who is PPG?

- PPG was founded in 1883 and has operations in more than 60 countries
- Beyond chlor-alkali and derivatives, PPG has leading businesses in paints and coatings, optical, glass and fiberglass, and specialty materials
- PPG's chlor-alkali and derivatives business had 2011 net sales of more than $1.7 billion

Benefits of the Combined Entity

- Combining with PPG's chlor-alkali and derivatives operations will be transformative for Georgia Gulf, resulting in a new organization that is expected to be:
    - a Fortune 500 company with anticipated annual revenues of $5 billion
    - the 3rd largest chlorine producer in North America and the 4th largest chlorine producer globally
    - the 2nd largest VCM producer in North America
    - one of the lowest-cost chlor-alkali producers in the world due to our access to North American natural gas

- The enhanced size and strength of the new company will provide opportunities for investments in the future as we continue on our path toward executing our strategies
- One of the most compelling aspects of this merger is the opportunity to combine each company's operations in Lake Charles, Louisiana

Lake Charles

- Having dual operations in Lake Charles will create one of the largest chlor-alkali complexes in North America and fulfill our strategic objective of increasing our chlor-alkali integration
- The two plants have a long relationship and have been part of a joint venture since 1994, providing us with chlorine and VCM

- Merging with PPG's chlor-alkali and derivatives operations achieves our strategic goal of increased chlor-alkali integration
- our chlorine and caustic soda production capacity is expected to increase by more than 500 percent
- our VCM production capacity is expected to increase nearly 45 percent
- Increased chlor-alkali integration is part of a larger strategy to create long-term shareholder value
- Georgia Gulf remains committed to continuing to grow Building Products, Compounds and Additives, and maximize the value of Aromatics

Edgar Filing: GEORGIA GULF CORP /DE/ - Form 425

- Employees in Building Products, Compounds and Additives, and Aromatics should view this merger as an opportunity to fuel growth in their areas and to continue with a business-as-usual mindset that focuses on safety, environment and execution

Impact on Jobs, Benefits

- Will there be headcount reductions?
  - One of the key drivers of the deal is the opportunity to add the complementary talent and experience of PPG's employees to our organization
  - It is our objective to continue to be a talent-led organization, keeping the attraction and retention of top talent at the forefront of our agenda
  - The Georgia Gulf and PPG teams will combine their complementary skill sets to build a higher-performing organization that leverages the strength of each organization's core capabilities
  - We plan to make as few changes to this strong team as possible

- Where will my job be located?
- The combined company will have its corporate headquarters in Atlanta, but will also maintain a presence in the Pittsburgh area
- We plan to begin looking at office locations in the Pittsburgh area shortly so we can consolidate the local team
- At the plant level, employees can anticipate remaining at their current facility
- Will my benefits change?
- For now, Georgia Gulf employees will have the same or similar benefits they have had in recent years
- As the organizations are combined, we will begin to consolidate benefits into one consistent package over time
- While the consolidation of the company's plans is likely to result in changes to specific benefits, the overall package offered by the combined company will remain strong

Future Updates

- In the weeks ahead, Georgia Gulf and PPG leaders will meet to further develop a plan for the integration of the organizations
- This will include exploring the creation of a new company brand and identity
- Throughout the transition to a new organization, we will communicate all relevant information that might impact employees at the appropriate time
- It is our goal to create a unified organization, leveraging all of the strengths that our two organizations have to offer

Business as Usual

- Until closing of the merger, each organization will conduct its business as usual, and continue to provide its respective customers with high-quality service while operating in a safe, environmentally sound manner

  - We sincerely hope you share the excitement about this strategic integration of two strong organizations
