Comments from Management

Q3 was an excellent quarter with record revenues and shipments, improved profitability and strong bookings. The U.S. dollar strengthened during the quarter, so currency translation had less of an impact than we had expected. We also achieved several business milestones including being awarded the first major project with Nortel, and two major expansions of existing customers' projects in Europe and Latin America.

This strong execution occurred in a climate of increasingly negative sentiment resulting from the spreading credit crisis and subsequent predictions of global recession. These macro-economic factors are becoming a looming threat at a time when our own visibility is much better than a year ago, and the company is stronger than ever in terms of both business and financial parameters. If we are heading into a slowdown, we are doing so with excellent momentum.

Current metrics such as number of projects in the pipeline, bookings and customer feedback are still giving positive signals, but we also have seen a few projects move more slowly for reasons unrelated to the economy. Therefore, we are adopting a cautious stance in our assumptions about the timing of shipments and related revenues. In addition, we are preparing to operate within a more difficult business climate as we move into 2009. We will intensify our expense control efforts, adopt even more conservative credit policies, and continually monitor our bookings and pipeline of business in order to focus our resources on the projects most likely to move forward regardless of the economic environment. During this period of uncertainty, we will concentrate on maintaining maximum flexibility and prepare to take action if the market weakens, with the main goal of capturing market share from weaker competitors or those changing their focus.

Q4 2008 Guidance

The company's revenue guidance for Q4 2008 is $70 to $78 million. Based on this revenue range, non-GAAP per share results are expected to range between $0.00 and $0.07, based on approximately 64.5 million of estimated weighted average diluted shares outstanding. GAAP results are expected to range between a loss of ($0.04) and earnings per share of $0.03.
