J.P. Morgan Securities Inc. (JPMorgan) and Banc of America Securities LLC (Banc of America) will make the securities available for distribution on the Internet through a proprietary website and/or a third-party system operated by Market Axess Inc., an Internet-based communications technology provider. Market Axess Inc. is providing the system as a conduit for communications between JPMorgan and Banc of America, on the one hand, and their customers, on the other hand, and is not a party to any transactions. Market Axess Inc., a registered broker-dealer, will receive compensation from JPMorgan and Banc of America based on transactions JPMorgan and Banc of America conduct through the system. JPMorgan and Banc of America will make the securities available to their customers through the Internet distributions, whether made through a proprietary or third-party system, on the same terms as distributions made through other channels.

The following information updates litigation disclosure found on pages 62 and 63 in Item 3. Legal Proceedings Corporate and Other Operations in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2002:

A consolidated appeal was brought in the Appellate Division of the Superior Court of New Jersey (the Appellate Division) challenging the October 15, 2001, Decision and Order of the New Jersey Commissioner of Banking and Insurance (the Commissioner) that approved The Prudential Insurance Company of America's Plan of Reorganization (the Plan), including its provision for distribution of demutualization consideration to non-participating policyholders. On June 27, 2003, the Appellate Division affirmed the Commissioner's Order, held that the Plan complied with all applicable law and denied appellants' constitutional challenges. The appellants may attempt to appeal to the Supreme Court of New Jersey.

The last paragraph before the United States Alien Holders section on page S-33 of the Prospectus Supplement, dated April 25, 2003, to the Prospectus, dated April 25, 2003 is amended to read in its entirety as follows:

Capital gain of a noncorporate United States holder, that is realized before January 1, 2009, is generally taxed at a maximum rate of 15% where the property is held more than one year.

Prudential Financial, Inc. estimates that its share of the total offering expenses, excluding underwriting discounts and commissions paid to the underwriters will be approximately $139,000.
