TELUS announces new Board members and Verizon affirms commitment to strategic alliance

Vancouver, B.C. - TELUS Corporation today announced that two Verizon executives -- Daniel C. Petri, group president - International, and Alfred C. Giammarino, senior vice president and chief financial officer - International -- have joined its Board. These appointments replace Michael Masin, who recently became vice chairman and COO of Citigroup, and Fares Salloum, who will be retiring from Verizon at the end of this year.

Darren Entwistle, president and CEO of TELUS remarked, "Dan and Al will be excellent additions to the TELUS Board given their extensive telecommunications experience. Ivan Seidenberg, CEO of Verizon stated, "The appointments signify our continued commitment to the long-standing and productive strategic alliance and investment that we have with TELUS in Canada."

Daniel Petri has had a 31-year career in the NYNEX, Bell Atlantic and Verizon organizations, most recently as president, International-Europe and Asia. In a wide ranging career, he has overseen customer care operations in New York City, had responsibility for wireless, video, directory and international operations and investments, and developed and managed global connectivity.

Al Giammarino has had a 17-year career in GTE and Verizon, most recently as senior vice president and CFO - information services and international. He has enjoyed successively more senior positions in corporate accounting, finance, strategic planning and business development.
