internal control over financial reporting. We will continue to evaluate the employees involved, the additional control procedures in place to help compensate for the lack of segregation of duties, the risks associated with such lack of segregation and whether the potential benefits of adding employees to clearly segregate duties justifies the expense associated with such increases.

We are also evaluating our internal controls systems so that when we are required to do so, our management will be able to report on, and our independent auditors to attest to, our internal controls, as required by Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002. We will be performing the system and process evaluation and testing (and any necessary remediation) required in an effort to comply with the management certification and auditor attestation requirements of Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act. In connection with our year-end November 30, 2004 audit, we have identified the following control deficiencies and issues with our internal controls over financial reporting that we believe amount in the aggregate to a significant deficiency in our internal controls over financial reporting:

- o We are aware that many of the internal controls that are in place are undocumented controls. Although we have documented many of our systems and processes, we will need to expend a substantial amount of time to obtain the full documentation required to be in compliance with Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002.
- o After the end of our fiscal year, when we were preparing state tax returns for telecommunication taxes, we identified that we had been overstating telecom taxes payable for certain taxes that were paid by us directly to our carrier instead of being paid directly to the taxing authorities. We have adjusted our controls to mitigate this type of event from occurring in future periods.

Due to the voluminous nature of state and local telecom taxes and the small quantity of taxes payable to certain municipalities, we do not remit all our telecom taxes in a timely manner. Certain taxes that we should be remitting on a monthly basis, we remit quarterly or semi-annually because many of the checks and returns that we are processing are for payments of less than $50. We are aware of other telephone companies that follow this process. We continue to monitor the responses, if any, we receive from the tax authorities regarding late filings and we do not intend to remit such taxes on a timely manner in the future, unless we determine that it would be more cost-effective to us to do so.
