Item 7.01 Regulation FD Disclosure

Hercules Offshore, Inc. (the Company) has been advised by one of its customers, Chevron USA (Customer), that they believe actions taken by the Department of Interior (DOI) and the Bureau of Ocean Energy Management (BOE), the DOI agency formerly known as the Minerals Management Service, including the issuance of new rules and prerequisites to the issuance of permits by the BOE, prevent the continuation of operations of the Hercules 120 by force majeure, effective June 23, 2010, which could lead the Customer to attempt to terminate the contract covering the operations for the Hercules 120 and pay a reduced standby dayrate until such time. The Company is engaged in discussions with the Customer in an attempt to seek a commercial resolution. If such attempts are ultimately unsuccessful, the Company will, at that time, determine whether to pursue its contractual and legal rights and remedies. The Customer currently operates two additional rigs owned by the Company, the Hercules 173 and the Hercules 350, which were not subject to the notice of force majeure.
