Hotel

Hotel commission revenue increased 44% for the second quarter of 2010 compared to the prior year quarter, primarily due to higher volume, which was partially offset by lower commission per room night. Commission per room night decreased 9% year-on-year primarily due to our eCoupon program and the more rapid growth of lower average daily rate hotels. Room nights booked through eLong in the second quarter increased 58% year-on-year to 1.5 million.

Air

Air ticketing commission revenue increased 40% for the second quarter of 2010 compared to the prior year quarter, driven by a 16% increase in air segments to 591,000 and an increase in commission per segment. Commission per segment increased 21%, due to a 25% increase in average ticket price, partially offset by a decrease in air commission rates compared to the same quarter of the prior year.

Other

Other revenue increased 78% year-on-year for the second quarter of 2010. Other revenue is primarily online advertising on our websites. Other revenue grew to 8% of total revenues from 7% in the prior year quarter.

Profitability

Gross margin in the second quarter of 2010 was 72% compared to 71% in the prior year quarter of 2009.

Operating expenses for the second quarter of 2010 and same period in 2009 were as follows (figures in RMB million):

Service development expense was 16% of net revenues, unchanged compared to the same quarter of 2009.

Sales and marketing expenses for the second quarter of 2010 increased 41% over the prior year quarter, mainly driven by increased online marketing expenses and hotel commission payments to our third-party distribution partners, partially offset by reduced headcount. Sales and marketing expense was 33% of net revenues, unchanged compared to the same quarter of 2009.

Non-GAAP Financial Measures

To supplement the financial measures calculated in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles in the United States, or GAAP, this press release includes certain non-GAAP financial measures including net income per ADS, diluted net income per ADS and Operating Income Before Amortization (OIBA). We believe these non-GAAP financial measures are important to help investors understand eLong's current financial performance and compare business trends among different reporting periods. These non-GAAP financial measures should be considered in addition to financial measures presented in accordance with GAAP, but should not be considered as a substitute for, or superior to, financial measures presented in accordance with GAAP.

OIBA is defined as income from operations plus: (1) stock-based compensation charges; (2) acquisition-related impacts, including (i) amortization of intangible assets and impairment of goodwill and intangible assets, and (ii) gains or losses recognized on changes in the fair value of contingent consideration arrangements; and (3) certain items, including restructuring charges and charges related to property and equipment. We exclude the items listed above from OIBA because we believe doing so may provide investors greater insight into management decision making at eLong. We believe OIBA is useful to investors because it is one of the primary internal metrics by which management evaluates the performance of our business as a whole and our individual business segments, on which internal budgets are based, and by which management and employees, including our Chief Executive Officer, are compensated. We believe that investors should have access to the same set of tools that management uses to analyze our performance. In addition, we believe that by excluding certain items, such as stock-based compensation charges and acquisition-related impacts, OIBA corresponds more closely to the cash operating income generated from our business and allows investors to gain additional understanding of factors and trends affecting the ongoing cash earning capabilities of our business, from which capital investments are made. Although depreciation is also a non-cash expense, it is included in OIBA because it is driven directly by the capital expenditure decisions made by management. OIBA also has certain limitations in that it does not take into account the impact of certain expenses to our consolidated statements of operations. We seek to compensate for the limitation of the non-GAAP measure presented by also providing the comparable GAAP measure, GAAP financial statements, and descriptions of the reconciling items and adjustments, to derive the non-GAAP measure.

OIBA should be considered in addition to results prepared in accordance with GAAP, but should not be considered a substitute for, or superior to, GAAP measures. We present a reconciliation of this non-GAAP financial measure to GAAP below.
