To CMS' knowledge, during the year ended December 31, 2001, CMS' officers and directors made all required Section 16(a) filings on a timely basis with three exceptions. Kenneth L. Way, a director, purchased CMS Common Stock in September 2001. COMPENSATION OF DIRECTORS

Directors who are not officers of CMS or Consumers received in 2001 an annual retainer fee of $30,000, and $1,500 for attendance at each Board meeting and $750 for attendance at each committee meeting. Committee chairs received $1,000 for attendance at each committee meeting. The Board of Directors in February 2002 set the same amounts for retainer and attendance fees to be paid in 2002. In 2001, all directors who were not officers of CMS or Consumers were granted 900 restricted shares of CMS Common Stock with a fair market value at time of grant of $26,316. In 2002, the number of restricted shares to be granted to each outside director will be reduced to 850, which reduction reflects CMS' and Consumers' disappointing 2001 financial performance. Directors are reimbursed for expenses incurred in attending Board or committee meetings. Directors who are officers of CMS or Consumers do not receive retainers or meeting fees for service on the Board or as a member of any Board committee. Pursuant to the Directors' Deferred Compensation Plan, a director of CMS or Consumers who is not an officer may, at any time prior to a calendar year in which a retainer and fees are to be earned, or at any time during the year prior to the month in which a retainer and fees are earned, irrevocably elect to defer payment for that year, or a portion thereof, through written notice to CMS or Consumers, of all or half of any of the retainer and fees which would otherwise be paid to the director, to a time following the director's retirement from the Board of Directors. Any amount deferred will either (a) accrue interest at either the prime rate or the rate for 10-year Treasury Notes (whichever is greater), (b) be treated as if it were invested as an optional cash payment in CMS' Stock Purchase Plan, or (c) be treated as if it were invested in a Standard & Poor's

Edgar Filing: CMS ENERGY CORP - Form DEF 14A

500 stock index fund. Accrued amounts will be distributed in a lump sum or in five or ten annual installments in cash. Outside directors who retire with five years of service on the Board will receive retirement payments equal to the retainer. These payments will continue for a period of time equal to their years of service on the Board. All benefits will cease at the death of the retired director. Outside directors are offered optional life insurance coverage, business-related travel accident insurance, and optional health care insurance, and CMS and Consumers pay the premiums associated with participation by directors. The imputed income for the life insurance coverage in 2001 was: Messrs. Deutch, $756; Duderstadt, $690; Holton, $1,953; Parfet, $504; Pierre, $756; Whipple, $1,746; Yasinsky, $759; and Ms. Flaherty, $120.

ORGANIZATION AND COMPENSATION COMMITTEE REPORT

Compensation Philosophy

CMS' executive compensation program is directed by a committee composed entirely of independent outside directors. The Committee is responsible for determining and administering executive compensation policies and plans as well as reviewing and recommending officer appointments to the Board of Directors. The Committee also has the responsibility for approving both annual compensation and compensation awards under long-term stock ownership programs. Such programs seek to enhance the profitability of CMS and, hence, shareholder value by aligning the financial interests of CMS' officers with those of its shareholders. In doing so, the Committee relies to a large degree on incentive compensation including stock-related awards to attract and retain outstanding officers.

Compensation for Mr. McCormick and the other executive officers consists of (i) base salary, which is intended to be at the competitive median of the amounts paid to executives with equivalent positions at other energy companies of comparable size, and (ii) substantial annual and long-term incentive compensation closely tied to CMS' success in achieving earnings, stock appreciation and other performance goals. The incentive program is also designed to be competitive with plans of other comparable energy companies and variable "at risk" compensation is intended to be above median in years when CMS meets or exceeds its performance goals.

Annual Compensation

The Committee reviews the base salary of Mr. McCormick and the other officers and approves annual salaries for them based on industry, peer group, and national surveys and judgment as to the past and expected future contributions of each individual. In the case of Mr. McCormick, such judgment also involves the Committee's assessment of his past performance and its expectation as to his future contribution in leading CMS.

The annual incentive compensation (bonus) payment, if any, is based on CMS' success in meeting challenging earnings per share goals set by the Committee at the beginning of each year. In addition, individual performance goals are established for each executive officer for specific financial, operating and management achievements. Following the end of each year, the results on a corporate and individual basis are reviewed by the Committee to determine the appropriate awards. The Executive Incentive Compensation Plan has a threshold payout at 90% of the earnings per share goal and a maximum payout at 120% of goal. Under the Plan for 2001, CMS' performance did not achieve the minimum threshold of 90% of the earnings per share goal. Therefore, no payments were made under the Plan for any CMS corporate officers; however, there were several officers of subsidiary companies that received bonuses based on the performance of their business units.

Long-Term Compensation

The last element of executive compensation considered by the Committee during each year is long-term incentive awards in the form of stock options and restricted stock awards under CMS' Performance Incentive Stock Plan. The Committee believes such awards are desirable in encouraging CMS Common Stock ownership by executives, thus linking their interests directly to that of other shareholders. Therefore, in 2001, the Committee decided to grant stock options with an exercise price equal to the CMS Common Stock market price on the date of the grant to the officers, including those shown in the above charts. Options have been granted annually, usually for approximately the same number of shares. The Committee believes grants should be made annually on a generally consistent basis. In determining grants, the Committee weighed a number of factors including prior grants and corporate performance.

The Committee also awarded performance-based restricted stock which will vest at the rate of 25% per year after two years, with 100% vested after five years. However, the nominal restricted stock award will be paid only if the average annual shareholder return target of 12% is achieved for each three-year performance period. If the average annual shareholder return is less than the target, then the award will be smaller, and if the return is greater than the target, then the award will be larger.

Compensation Deductibility

The Committee has reviewed CMS' compensation plans and the applicability of Section 162(m) of the Internal Revenue Code and regulations thereunder dealing with federal income tax deductibility for compensation in excess of $1 million. The Committee believes that bonus awards under the Executive Incentive Compensation Plan and awards of stock options and vesting of performance-based restricted stock under the Performance Incentive Stock Plan are considered deductible compensation under the regulations under Section 162(m), because they are based on pre-established performance goals and the plans have been approved by shareholders.

Compensation Consultant

In connection with its ongoing independent review of executive compensation, the Committee has retained Hewitt Associates, a recognized compensation and benefit consultant, to assist the Committee in evaluating the appropriateness and competitiveness of its compensation policies and programs.

AUDIT COMMITTEE REPORT

CMS' and Consumers' audit activities are directed by committees composed entirely of independent outside directors. The Committees are responsible for overseeing the preparation of external financial reports, the adequacy of internal audit controls, the audit process, the independence and performance of the independent auditors, and compliance with legal and regulatory requirements.

We have reviewed and discussed with management CMS' and Consumers' audited financial statements as of and for the year ended December 31, 2001.

We have discussed with the independent auditors of the 2001 financial statements, Arthur Andersen LLP, the matters required to be discussed by Statement on Auditing Standards No. 61, Communication with Audit Committees, as amended, by the Auditing Standards Board of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

We have received and reviewed the written disclosures and the letter from those independent auditors required by Independence Standard No. 1, Independence Discussions with Audit Committees, as amended, by the Independence Standards Board, and have discussed with Arthur Andersen the auditors' independence.

We have considered the provision of all of Arthur Andersen's services to CMS and Consumers in 2001 and the fees paid for all such services, and have concluded that all current arrangements are compatible with maintaining the independence of Arthur Andersen LLP.

Based on the reviews and discussions referred to above, we recommended to the Board of Directors that the financial statements referred to above be included in the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2001.

Submitted as of February 22, 2002 by the Audit Committee: William U. Parfet (Chair), John M. Deutch, James J. Duderstadt, Percy A. Pierre, and John B. Yasinsky.

Audit Fees

The aggregate fees billed by Arthur Andersen for professional services rendered for the audit of the CMS annual financial statements for the year 2001 and for the reviews of the 2001 quarterly financial statements were $1,630,000. The Consumers portion of this total was $450,000.

Financial Information Systems Design and Implementation Fees

No fees were billed to CMS or Consumers by Arthur Andersen for 2001 professional services related to financial information systems design and implementation.

All Other Fees

The aggregate fees billed to CMS by Arthur Andersen for services in the year 2001 other than the audit services discussed above was $3,926,779. The Consumers portion of this total was $409,093. While these charges were not audit fees per se, a portion of "All Other Fees" was related to audit services. $1,080,780 of the "All Other Fees" total, or about 28%, were for audit-related services. The Consumers portion of these audit-related fees was $278,550, or 68% of Consumers total "All Other Fees." These audit-related fees are charges for services traditionally performed by the independent auditor or that can only be performed by the independent auditor. Examples of audit-related services include accounting assistance on proposed financing transactions, review of documents filed with the SEC, and audits of benefit plans.

RATIFICATION OF THE APPOINTMENT OF INDEPENDENT AUDITORS

The Audit Committee recently concluded that the ability of Arthur Andersen, LLP to serve as CMS' independent auditors for the year ending December 31, 2002 is adversely affected by well publicized, recent developments and recommended to the Board of Directors the replacement of Arthur Andersen as CMS' independent auditors. On the recommendation of the Audit Committee, the Board of Directors has decided to select replacement independent auditors from among nationally recognized auditing firms. The Audit Committee has initiated a search for a new independent auditor from among such firms and anticipates that a replacement will be appointed by the Board and announced by the time of the annual meeting of shareholders. Shareholders are advised that holders of the proxies will vote in their discretion to ratify any decision of the Board prior to the annual meeting to retain such replacement independent auditors. In the event replacement independent auditors are not selected by the time of the annual meeting, the Board will make a selection as soon as possible thereafter.

Arthur Andersen served as CMS' independent auditors for the year 2001. Representatives of Arthur Andersen will be invited to attend the annual meeting of shareholders and will have an opportunity to make a statement, if they desire to do so, and to respond to appropriate questions. The new independent auditors will also be invited to attend, to make a statement, if they desire to do so, and to answer questions.

The Board of Directors and the Audit Committee have the responsibility to evaluate and, if necessary, the Board has the authority to replace CMS' independent auditors even after, or absent, shareholder ratification. This statement of the Board's and the Audit Committee's authority is set forth in the CMS Audit Committee Charter: "The independent accountants are ultimately accountable to the Board and the [Audit] Committee; therefore, the [Audit] Committee and the Board shall have the authority and responsibility to select, evaluate and, when appropriate, replace the independent accountants." The Audit Committee Charter, which was included as an appendix to the 2001 CMS Proxy Statement, together with language substantially the same as that quoted above, are required for companies like CMS that are listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Approval of this proposal requires the affirmative vote of a majority of the shares of CMS Common Stock voting on the proposal.
