WIPRO LIMITED AND SUBSIDIARIES
NOTES TO THE UNAUDITED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
(in millions, except share data and where otherwise stated)

1. Overview

Wipro Limited (Wipro), together with its subsidiaries (collectively, the Company) is a leading India based provider of IT Services and Products, including Business Process Outsourcing (BPO) services, globally. Further, Wipro has other businesses such as India and AsiaPac IT Services and Products and Consumer Care and Lighting. Wipro is headquartered in Bangalore, India.

2. Significant Accounting Policies

The preparation of consolidated financial statements in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (U.S. GAAP) requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, revenues and expenses and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

Basis of preparation of financial statements. The accompanying unaudited consolidated financial statements of the Company have been prepared in accordance with U.S. GAAP.

Interim information presented in the consolidated financial statements has been prepared by the management without audit and, in the opinion of management, includes all adjustments of a normal recurring nature that are necessary for the fair presentation of the financial position, results of operations and cash flows for the periods shown, and is in accordance with U.S. GAAP. These financial statements should be read in conjunction with the consolidated financial statements and related notes included in the Company's annual report on Form 20-F for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2007.

Functional currency and exchange rate translation. The functional currency of Wipro and its domestic subsidiaries is the Indian rupees, the national currency of India. The functional currency of Wipro's foreign subsidiaries is determined based on an evaluation of the individual and collective economic factors as discussed in Statement of Financial Accounting Standard (SFAS) No. 52, Foreign Currency Translation. The assets and liabilities of subsidiaries that have local functional currency are translated into Indian rupees at the exchange rate in effect at the balance sheet date. Revenue and expense accounts are translated at monthly weighted-average exchange rate for the respective periods. The gains or losses resulting from such translation are reported as a separate component of stockholders equity.

Foreign currency transactions are translated into the functional currency at the rates of exchange prevailing on the date of respective transactions. Monetary assets and liabilities in foreign currency are translated into functional currency at the exchange rates prevailing on the balance sheet date. The resulting exchange gains/losses are included in the statement of income.

Convenience translation. The accompanying consolidated financial statements have been reported in Indian rupees, the national currency of India. Solely for the convenience of the readers, the financial statements as of and for the period ended December 31, 2007, have been translated into U.S. dollars at the noon buying rate in New York City on December 31, 2007, for cable transfers in Indian rupees, as certified for customs purposes by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York of $1 = Rs. 39.41. No representation is made that the Indian rupee amounts have been, could have been or could be converted into United States dollars at such a rate or any other rate.

Principles of consolidation. The consolidated financial statements include the financial statements of Wipro and all of its subsidiaries, which are more than 50% owned and controlled. All inter-company accounts and transactions are eliminated on consolidation. The Company accounts for investments by the equity method where its investment in the voting stock gives it the ability to exercise significant influence over the investee.

Cash equivalents. The Company considers investments in highly liquid instruments with remaining maturities, at the date of purchase/investment, of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Revenue recognition. Revenue from services, as rendered, are recognized when persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists, the sales price is fixed or determinable and collectibility is reasonably assured. Revenues from software development services comprise revenues from time-and-material and fixed-price contracts. Revenue on time-and-material contracts is recognized as the related services are performed. Revenue from fixed-price, fixed-time frame contracts is recognized in accordance with the percentage of completion method. Guidance has been drawn from the Accounting Standards Executive Committee's conclusion in paragraph 95 of Statement of Position (SOP) 97-2, Software Revenue Recognition, to account for revenue from fixed price arrangements for software development and related services in conformity with SOP 81-1, Accounting for Performance of Construction-Type and Certain Production-Type Contracts. The input (cost expended) method has been used to measure progress towards completion as there is a direct relationship between input and productivity. Provisions for estimated losses on contracts-in-progress are recorded in the period in which such losses become probable based on the current contract estimates. Maintenance revenue is deferred and recognized ratably over the term of the agreement. Revenue from customer training, support and other services is recognized as the related service is performed. Costs that are incurred for a specific anticipated contract and that will result in no future benefits unless the contract is obtained are not included in contract costs. However, such costs are deferred if the cost can be directly associated with a specific anticipated contract and the recoverability from that contract are deemed to be probable.

Revenue from sale of products is recognized when persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists, the product has been delivered in accordance with sales contract, the sales price is fixed or determinable and collectibility is reasonably assured.

For all revenue arrangements with multiple deliverables, based on the guidance in EITF Issue No. 00-21 the Company recognizes revenues on the delivered products or services only if:

The revenue recognition criteria applicable to the unit of accounting is met;

The delivered element has value to the customer on a standalone basis. The delivered unit will have value on a standalone basis if it is being sold separately by other vendors or the customer could resell the deliverable on a standalone basis;

There is objective and reliable evidence of the fair value of the undelivered item(s); and

If the arrangement includes a general right of return relative to the delivered item, delivery or performance of the undelivered item(s) is considered probable and substantially in control of the Company.

The arrangement consideration is allocated to the units of accounting based on their fair values. The revenue recognized for the delivered items is limited to the amount that is not contingent upon the delivery or performance of the undelivered items.

In certain cases, the application of the contingent revenue provisions of EITF Issue No. 00-21 could result in recognizing a loss on the delivered element. In such cases, the cost recognized is limited to the amount of non-contingent revenues recognized and the balance costs are recorded as an asset and are reviewed for impairment based on the estimated net cash flows to be received for future deliverables under the contract. These costs are subsequently recognized on recognition of the revenue allocable to the balance deliverables.

Revenues from BPO Services are derived from both time-based and unit-priced contracts. Revenue is recognized as the related services are performed, in accordance with the specific terms of the contract with the customers.

Revenues are shown net of excise duty, sales tax, value added tax, service tax and applicable discounts and allowances

When the Company receives advance payments from customers for sale of products or provision of services, such payments are reported as advances from customers until all conditions for revenue recognition are met.

Volume discount. The Company accounts for volume discounts and pricing incentives to customers using the guidance in EITF Issue 01-09, Accounting for Consideration Given by a Vendor to a Customer (Including a Reseller of the Vendor's Products). The discount terms in the Company's arrangements with customers generally entitle the customer to discounts, if the customer completes a specified level of revenue transactions. In some arrangements, the level of discount varies with increases in the levels of revenue transactions. The Company recognizes discount obligations as a reduction of revenue based on the ratable allocation of the discount to each of the underlying revenue transactions that result in progress by the customer toward earning the discount. The Company recognizes the liability based on its estimate of the customer's future purchases. If the Company cannot reasonably estimate the customer's future purchases, then the liability is recorded based on the maximum potential level of discount. The Company recognizes changes in the estimated amount of obligations for discounts using a cumulative catch-up adjustment.

Warranty costs. The Company accrues the estimated cost of warranties at the time when the revenue is recognized. The accruals are based on the Company's historical experience of material usage and service delivery costs.

Shipping and handling costs. Shipping and handling costs are included in selling and marketing expenses.

Inventories. Inventories are stated at the lower of cost and market value. Cost is determined using the weighted-average method for all categories of inventories.

Investment securities. The Company classifies its debt and equity securities in one of the three categories: trading, held-to-maturity or available-for-sale, at the time of purchase and re-evaluates such classifications as of each balance sheet date. Trading and available-for-sale securities are recorded at fair value. Held-to-maturity securities are recorded at amortized cost, adjusted for the amortization or accretion of premiums or discounts. Unrealized holding gains and losses on trading securities are included in income. Temporary unrealized holding gains and losses, net of the related tax effect, on available-for-sale securities are excluded from income and are reported as a part of other comprehensive income in stockholders' equity until realized. Realized gains and losses from the sale of trading and available-for-sale securities are determined on a first-in-first out basis and are included in income. A decline in the fair value of any available-for-sale or held-to-maturity security below cost that is deemed to be other than temporary results in a reduction in carrying amount to fair value with a charge to the income statement. Fair value for mutual fund units is based on published per unit value, which is the basis for current transactions. Non-readily marketable equity securities for which there is no readily determinable fair value are recorded at cost, subject to an impairment charge to the income statement for any other than temporary decline in value.

Investments in affiliates. The Company's equity in the earnings/(losses) of affiliates is included in the statement of income and the Company's share of net assets of affiliates is included in the balance sheet.

Shares issued by subsidiary/affiliate. The issuance of stock by a subsidiary/affiliate to third parties reduces the proportionate ownership interest in the investee. Unless the issuance of such stock is part of a broader corporate reorganization or unless realization is not assured, the Company recognizes a gain or loss, equal to the difference between the issuance price per share and the Company's carrying amount per share. Such gain or loss is recognized in the statement of income when the transaction occurs.

Property, plant and equipment. Property, plant and equipment are stated at cost. The Company depreciates property, plant and equipment over the estimated useful life using the straight-line method. Assets under capital lease and leasehold improvements are amortized over the shorter of estimated useful life and the related lease term. The estimated useful lives of assets are as follows:

Buildings	30 to 60 years
Plant and machinery	2 to 21 years
Computer equipment	2 to 6 years
Furniture, fixtures and equipment	3 to 10 years
Vehicles	4 years
Computer software	2 to 6 years

Software for internal use is primarily acquired from third-party vendors and is in ready to use condition. Costs for acquiring this software are capitalized and subsequent costs are charged to the statement of income. The capitalized costs are amortized on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful life of the software.

Deposits paid towards the acquisition of property, plant and equipment outstanding as of each balance sheet date and the cost of property, plant and equipment not ready for use before such date are disclosed under capital work-in-progress. The interest cost incurred for funding an asset during its construction period is capitalized based on the actual investment in the asset and the average cost of funds. The capitalized interest is included in the cost of the relevant asset and is depreciated over the estimated useful life of the asset.

Business combinations, goodwill and intangible assets. In accordance with Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) No. 141, Business Combinations, the Company uses the purchase method of accounting for all business combinations consummated after June 30, 2001. Intangible assets acquired in a business combination are recognized and reported apart from goodwill if they meet the criteria specified in SFAS No. 141. Any purchase price allocated to an assembled workforce is not accounted separately.

In accordance with SFAS No. 142, Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets, all assets and liabilities of the acquired business including goodwill are assigned to the reporting units. The Company does not amortize goodwill but instead tests goodwill for impairment at least annually, using a two step impairment process.

The fair value of the reporting unit is first compared to its carrying value. The fair value of reporting units is determined using the income approach. If the fair value of the reporting unit exceeds the carrying value of the net assets assigned to that unit, goodwill is not impaired. If the carrying value of the net assets assigned to the reporting unit exceeds the fair value of the reporting unit, then the implied fair value of the reporting unit's goodwill is compared with the carrying value of the reporting unit's goodwill. The implied fair value of goodwill is determined in the same manner as the amount of goodwill recognized in a business combination. If the carrying value of a reporting unit's goodwill exceeds its implied fair value, then an impairment loss equal to the difference is recorded.

The Company amortizes intangible assets over their estimated useful lives unless such lives are determined to be indefinite. Amortizable intangible assets are amortized over their estimated useful lives in proportion to the economic benefits consumed in each period. Intangible assets with indefinite lives are tested at least annually for impairment and written down to the fair value as required. The estimated useful lives of the amortizable intangible assets are as follows:

Customer-related intangibles	2 to 5 years
Marketing-related intangibles	2 to 30 years
Technology-based intangibles	5 years

Start-up costs. Cost of start-up activities including organization costs are expensed as incurred.

Research and development. Revenue expenditure on research and development is expensed as incurred. Capital expenditure incurred on equipment and facilities that are acquired or constructed for research and development activities and having alternative future uses is capitalized as tangible assets when acquired or constructed. Software product development costs are expensed as incurred until technological feasibility is achieved.

Table of Contents

Impairment or disposal of long-lived assets. Long-lived assets, including certain identifiable intangible assets, to be held and used are reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of such assets may not be recoverable. Such assets are considered to be impaired if the carrying amount of the assets is higher than the future undiscounted net cash flows expected to be generated from the assets. The impairment amount to be recognized is measured by the amount by which the carrying value of the assets exceeds its fair value.

The Company measures long-lived assets held-for-sale, at the lower of carrying amount or fair value, less costs to sell.

Earnings per share. In accordance with SFAS No. 128, Earnings per Share, basic earnings per share is computed using the weighted-average number of common shares outstanding during the period. Diluted earnings per share is computed using the weighted-average number of common and dilutive common equivalent shares outstanding during the period, using the treasury stock method for options and warrants, except where the results would be anti-dilutive.

Income taxes. Income taxes are accounted for using the asset and liability method. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the future tax consequences attributable to differences between the financial statement carrying amounts of existing assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases and operating loss carry-forwards. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured using enacted tax rates expected to apply to taxable income in the years in which those temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. The effect on deferred tax assets and liabilities of a change in tax rates is recognized in income in the period that includes the enactment date. The deferred tax asset is reduced by a valuation allowance if it is more likely than not that some portion or all of the asset will not be realized. Excess income tax benefit on exercise of employee stock options is credited to additional paid-in capital.

The Company adopted FASB Interpretation No. 48, Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes - an Interpretation of FASB Statement No. 109 (FIN 48) on April 1, 2007. FIN 48 clarifies the accounting and reporting for uncertainties in income tax law. This Interpretation prescribes a comprehensive model for the financial statement recognition, measurement, presentation and disclosure of uncertain tax positions considered or to be considered in income tax returns. The Company recognizes penalties and interest related to unrecognized tax benefits as a component of other income, net. Refer note 20 for additional information relating to impact of adoption of FIN 48.

The income tax provision for the interim periods is based on the best estimate of the effective tax rate expected to be applicable for the full fiscal year. Changes in interim periods to tax provisions, for changes in judgments or settlements relating to tax exposure items of earlier years, are recorded as discrete items in the interim period of change.

Stock-based compensation. Effective April 1, 2006, the Company adopted SFAS No. 123 (revised 2004), Share-Based Payment, (SFAS No. 123 (R)), which requires the measurement and recognition of compensation expense for all stock-based payment awards based on the grant-date fair value of those awards. The Company adopted SFAS No.123(R) using the modified prospective application method. Under this approach, the Company has recognized compensation expense for share-based payment awards granted prior to, but not yet vested as of April 1, 2006, based on the grant date fair value estimated in accordance with the provisions of SFAS No. 123.

SFAS No. 123(R) requires that deferred stock-based compensation previously recorded under APB Opinion No. 25 and outstanding on the date of adoption be eliminated against additional paid-in capital. Accordingly, the deferred compensation balance of Rs. 2,202 was eliminated against additional paid-in capital on April 1, 2006. Under APB Opinion No. 25, the Company had a policy of recognizing the effect of forfeitures only as they occurred. Accordingly, as required by SFAS No. 123 (R), on April 1, 2006, the Company estimated the number of outstanding instruments, which are not expected to vest and recognized a gain of Rs. 39 representing the reversal of compensation cost for such instruments previously recognized in income as cumulative effect of changes in accounting principle. For awards with a graded-vesting schedule, if vesting is based only on a service condition, the Company recognizes the compensation cost on a straight-line basis over the requisite service period of the entire award.

Derivatives and hedge accounting. The Company purchases forward foreign exchange contracts/option contracts (derivatives) to mitigate the risk of changes in foreign exchange rates on accounts receivable and forecasted cash flows denominated in certain foreign currencies. The strategy also includes purchase of series of short term forward foreign exchange contracts which are replaced with successive new contracts up to the period in which the forecasted transactions are expected to occur (roll-over hedging). The Company also designates zero-cost collars, which qualify as net purchased options, to hedge the exposure to variability in expected future foreign currency cash inflows.

In accordance with SFAS No. 133, Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities, as amended, the Company recognizes all derivatives as assets or liabilities measured at their fair value, regardless of the purpose or intent of holding them. In respect of derivatives designated and effective as cash flow hedges, gains or losses resulting from changes in the fair value are deferred and recorded as a component of accumulated other comprehensive income within stockholder's equity until the hedged transaction occurs and are then recognized in the consolidated statements of income along with the hedged item. The Company assesses hedge effectiveness based on the overall change in fair value of the derivative instrument. However, for derivatives acquired pursuant to roll-over hedging strategies, the forward premium/discount points are excluded from assessing hedge effectiveness.

Changes in fair value for derivatives not designated as hedging derivatives and ineffective portion of the hedging instruments are recognized in consolidated statements of income of each period and are reported within foreign exchange gains/ (losses), net under operating expenses.

In respect of derivatives designated as hedges, the Company formally documents all relationships between hedging instruments and hedged items, as well as its risk management objective and strategy for undertaking various hedge transactions. The Company also formally assesses both at the inception of the hedge and on an ongoing basis, whether each derivative is highly effective in offsetting changes in fair values or cash flows of the hedged item. If it is determined that a derivative is not highly effective as a hedge, or if a derivative ceases to be a highly effective hedge, the Company, prospectively, discontinues hedge accounting with respect to that derivative.

Reclassifications. Certain amounts in the consolidated financial statements have been reclassified to conform to the current period's presentation.

Recent accounting pronouncement

SFAS No. 157. In September 2006, the FASB issued SFAS No. 157, Fair Value Measurements (SFAS No. 157). SFAS No. 157 defines fair value as the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. SFAS No. 157 provides guidance on determination of fair value and lays down the fair value hierarchy to classify the source of information used in fair value measurement. The Company is currently evaluating the impact of SFAS No. 157 on its financial statements and will adopt the mandatory provisions of SFAS No. 157 for the fiscal year beginning April 1, 2008.

SFAS No. 159. In February 2007, the FASB issued SFAS No. 159, The Fair Value Option for Financial Assets and Financial Liabilities (SFAS No. 159). This statement permits entities to choose to measure many financial instruments and certain other items at fair value. The objective is to improve financial reporting by providing entities with the opportunity to mitigate volatility in reported earnings caused by measuring related assets and liabilities differently without having to apply complex hedge accounting provisions. SFAS No. 159 is effective for the fiscal year beginning April 1, 2008. The Company is currently evaluating the impact that the adoption of SFAS No. 159 will have on its consolidated financial statements.

SFAS No. 141R. In December 2007, the FASB issued SFAS No. 141 (revised 2007), Business Combinations (SFAS No. 141R), which is a revision of SFAS No. 141, Business Combinations. This statement establishes principles and requirements for how an acquirer: recognizes and measures in its financial statements the identifiable assets acquired, the liabilities assumed and any noncontrolling interest in the acquiree; recognizes and measures the goodwill acquired in the business combination or a gain from a bargain purchase; and determines what information to disclose to enable users of the financial statements to evaluate the nature and financial effects of the business combination. The Company will be required to apply this new standard prospectively to business combinations for which the acquisition date is on or after the beginning of the annual reporting period beginning on or after December 15, 2008. Early adoption is prohibited. The Company is currently evaluating the impact of SFAS No. 141R on its consolidated financial statements.

SFAS No. 160. In December 2007, the FASB issued SFAS No. 160, Noncontrolling Interests in Consolidated Financial Statements (SFAS No. 160 (an amendment of ARB No. 51)). SFAS No. 160 establishes accounting and reporting standards for ownership interests in subsidiaries held by parties other than the parent, the amount of consolidated net income attributable to the parent and to the noncontrolling interest, changes in a parent's ownership interest and the valuation of retained noncontrolling equity investments when a subsidiary is deconsolidated. SFAS No. 160 also establishes disclosure requirements that clearly identify and distinguish between the interests of the parent and the interests of the noncontrolling owners. The Company will be required to adopt this new standard prospectively, for fiscal years, and interim periods within those fiscal years, beginning on or after December 15, 2008. The Company is currently evaluating the impact of the adoption of SFAS No. 160 on its consolidated financial statements.

3. Acquisitions*Unza Holdings Limited*

On July 30, 2007, the Company acquired 100% of the equity of Unza Holdings Limited (Unza) and subsidiaries. Unza is an independent manufacturer and marketer of personal care products in South East Asia. Unza markets a wide portfolio of personal care and detergent brands in several countries. The consideration (including direct acquisition costs) included a cash payment of Rs. 9,273 and a deferred payment of Rs. 981 which was paid during the quarter ended December 31, 2007.

The Company believes that this acquisition would strengthen the Company's brand portfolio and market presence in South East Asia and provide synergy in terms of access to common vendors, formulation and brands.

The majority of marketing-related intangibles relate to brands. The Company is in the process of determining brands, which have indefinite life, and those, which have determinable life based on a number of factors, including the competitive environment, market share, brand history and macro economic environment of the countries in which the brands are sold.

The purchase price has been preliminarily allocated to the acquired assets and liabilities as follows:

Description	Fair value
Tangible assets	Rs. 4,204
Liabilities	(4,718)

Infocrossing Inc.

On September 20, 2007, the Company acquired Infocrossing Inc. and subsidiaries (Infocrossing). The acquisition was conducted by means of a tender offer for all the outstanding shares of Infocrossing. Infocrossing is a U.S.-based IT infrastructure management, enterprise application and business process outsourcing services provider. The total consideration (including direct acquisition costs) amounted to Rs. 17,640.

The Company believes that the acquisition of Infocrossing broadens the Company's data center and mainframe capabilities and strengthens its competitive positioning in offering infrastructure management services.

As of the date of acquisition, Infocrossing had net operating losses, which are available for carry-forward and set-off against taxable profits in the future. The Company believes that it is more likely than not Accordingly, in the preliminary purchase price allocation, the Company has recorded deferred tax assets of US$ 32 representing the tax benefits that can be availed.

In addition, pursuant to the terms of an indenture agreement, the convertible debt of Infocrossing has been cancelled on acquisition. Liabilities assumed upon acquisition include Rs. 4,278 payable to the holders of convertible debt. Liabilities assumed upon acquisition include Rs. 823 payable to the stock option holders. These liabilities have been paid during the quarter ended December 31, 2007.

Infocrossing has tax deductible goodwill of approximately US$ 90 arising from its earlier acquisitions. This goodwill is deductible for tax purposes over 15 years.

The purchase price has been preliminary allocated to the acquired assets and liabilities as follows:

Description	Fair value
Tangible assets	Rs. 4,800
Liabilities	(10,484)
Customer-related intangibles	2,425
Deferred tax liabilities	(214)
Goodwill	21,113
Total	Rs. 17,640

The purchase consideration has been allocated on a preliminary basis based on management's estimates. The Company is in the process of making a final determination of the carrying value of assets and liabilities, which may result in changes in the carrying value of net assets recorded. Finalization of the purchase price allocation may result in certain adjustments to the above allocation.

The pro forma results exclude effects of certain material non-recurring charges of Rs. 1,717 incurred solely in connection with the acquisition transaction (transaction costs incurred by the acquiree, payments relating to employment contracts of key employees on change of control and write-off of unamortized discount on convertible debt extinguished on acquisition). Such amounts are not necessarily indicative of the results that would have occurred if the acquisition had occurred on dates indicated or that may result in the future.

Effective April 1, 2007, the Company adopted Financial Accounting Standards Board Interpretation 48, Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes – An Interpretation of Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 109 (FIN 48). The adoption of FIN 48 did not have any impact on the retained earnings or provision for taxation as of April 1, 2007. Upon adoption, the liability for income taxes associated with uncertain tax positions at April 1, 2007 was Rs. 3,298. Uncertain tax positions amounting Rs. 3,267, if recognized, would favorably affect the Company's effective tax rate. In addition, consistent with the provisions of FIN 48, as at April 1, 2007, the Company reclassified Rs. 1,643 of income tax liabilities from current to non-current liabilities because payment is not anticipated within one year of the balance sheet date. These non-current income tax liabilities are recorded in Other Liabilities in the consolidated financial statements.

FIN 48 also requires that changes in judgment that result in subsequent recognition, de-recognition or change in a measurement of a tax position taken in a prior annual period (including any related interest and penalties) be recognized as a discrete item in the period in which the change occurs. This change will not impact the manner in which the Company recorded income taxes on an annual basis and did not significantly impact its recorded income tax provision in the period ended December 31, 2007.

The unrecognized tax benefits increased by Rs.190 during the nine months ended December 31, 2007 due to non-recognition of certain credits in computation of minimum alternate tax eligible for deferral and set off against regular income taxes in the future. The unrecognized tax benefits decreased by Rs.489 during the nine months ended December 31, 2007 due to reversal of tax provision upon settlement of tax assessment by the tax authorities in a particular tax jurisdiction, expiry of statutory of limitation and revision of tax accruals relating to transfer pricing.

Although it is difficult to anticipate the final outcome or timing of resolution of any particular uncertain tax position, the Company believes that the total amount of unrecognized tax benefits will decrease by Rs. 260 million during the next 12 months due to expiry of statute of limitation.

It is the Company's policy to include any penalties and interest related to income taxes as a component of other income, net. As of April 1, 2007 the Company had provisions of Rs. 105 on account of accrued interest and penalties related to uncertain tax positions.

A listing of open tax years is given below. Additionally, certain uncertain tax positions relate to earlier years, which are currently under dispute with the tax authorities.

Wipro Restricted Stock Unit Plan 2007 (WRSUP 2007) In July 2007, the Company established a new option plan titled Wipro Employee Restricted Stock Unit Plan 2007. The Company is authorized to issue up to 10 million options to eligible employees under the plan. Options under the plan will be granted at a nominal exercise price (par value of the equity shares). There is no activity under the above plan for the nine months ended December 31, 2007.

The total intrinsic value of options exercised under restricted stock unit plans during the nine months ended December 31, 2006, and 2007, was Rs. 862 and Rs. 175 respectively. As of December 31, 2007 options outstanding and exercisable under the restricted stock unit plans had an intrinsic value of Rs. 4,448 and Rs. 607 respectively. As of December 31, 2007, the unamortized stock compensation expense under the plans is Rs.3,612 and the same is expected to be amortized over a weighted average period of approximately 3.07 years.

During the year ended March 31, 2007 and the nine months ended December 31, 2006 and 2007, the Company has recognized Rs. 1,336, Rs. 898 and Rs. 926 of stock compensation cost. The compensation cost has been allocated to cost of revenues and operating expenses as follows:

During the period ended December 31, 2007, the Indian Income Tax Act was amended to levy a tax titled Fringe Benefit Tax (FBT) on employee stock options. FBT is assessed on all stock options that are exercised on or after April 1, 2007, and is based on the intrinsic value of the stock options on the vesting date. However, the FBT liability is triggered only if the options are exercised. Consistent with the guidance in EITF Issue No. 00-16, Recognition and Measurement of Employer Payroll Taxes on Employee Stock Based Compensation, the Company records the FBT expense when the stock option is exercised since the FBT liability is triggered only subsequent to exercise. The tax laws permit the employer to recover the FBT from the employee as the tax relates to benefits accruing to the employee. The Company has modified its employee stock option plans to recover the FBT from the employees. The recovery of FBT from the employees is directly linked to the exercise of the stock option and is recorded as an additional component of the exercise price of the options based on the guidance previously provided by Issue 15 of EITF Issue No. 00-23, Issues Related to the Accounting for Stock Compensation under APB Opinion No. 25 and FASB Interpretation No. 44. The FBT expense and recovery recorded in the period ended December 31, 2007, was not material.

Modification of Employee Stock Incentive Plans

During the year ended March 31, 2007, through a short-term inducement offer, the Company agreed to an arrangement whereby if certain vested options were exercised within the offer period through financing by an independent third-party financial institution, the Company would bear the interest obligation relating to this financing. The loan by the third-party financial institution is with no recourse to the Company. 11,879,065 options were exercised during the offer period. The Company has accounted for this arrangement as a short-term inducement resulting in modification accounting. Accordingly, incremental compensation cost of Rs. 86 had been recorded during the year ended March 31, 2007. During the nine month ended December 31, 2007, the Company has revised its estimate of the fair value of its interest obligation relating to the non-recourse financing, and has accordingly recorded an additional compensation expense of Rs. 100.

Additionally as a part of this arrangement 1,150,055 other vested options were exercised by certain employees through a non-recourse interest free loan aggregating Rs. 326.17 by a controlled trust, during the year ended March 31, 2007. Even though this transaction does not represent an exercise for accounting purpose, to reflect the legal nature of shares issued, an amount of Rs. 2.30, equivalent to the par value of shares issued has been transferred from additional paid-in capital to common stock.

22. Earnings Per Share

A reconciliation of equity shares used in the computation of basic and diluted earnings per equity share is set out below:

	Nine months ended December 31,
	2006	2007
	(Unaudited)	(Unaudited)
Earnings
Net income	Rs. 20,555	Rs. 23,487
Equity shares
Weighted average number of equity shares outstanding	1,424,271,318	1,450,201,056
Effect of dilutive equivalent shares-stock options	18,629,919	4,753,171
Weighted average number of equity shares and equivalent shares outstanding	1,442,901,237	1,454,954,227

Shares held by the controlled WERT have been reduced from the equity shares outstanding and shares held by employees subject to vesting conditions have been included in outstanding equity shares for computing basic and diluted earnings per share. Similarly, options exercised through a non-recourse loan by the WERT, have been reduced from the equity shares outstanding.

23. Employee Benefit Plans

Gratuity. In accordance with applicable Indian laws, the Company provides for gratuity, a defined benefit retirement plan (Gratuity Plan) covering certain categories of employees. The Gratuity Plan provides a lump sum payment to vested employees, at retirement or termination of employment, an amount based on the respective employee's last drawn salary and the years of employment with the Company. The Company provides the gratuity benefit through annual contributions to a fund managed by the Life Insurance

Corporation of India (LIC). Under this plan, the settlement obligation remains with the Company, although the Life Insurance Corporation of India administers the plan and determines the contribution premium required to be paid by the Company.

Net gratuity cost for the nine months ended December 31, 2006 and 2007 included:

	Nine months ended December 31,
	2006 (Unaudited)	2007 (Unaudited)
Service cost	Rs. 304	Rs. 217
Interest cost	45	62
Expected return on assets	(38)	(39)
Net gratuity cost	Rs. 233	Rs. 261

(1) Till March 31, 2006 for certain category of employees, the Company inadvertently recorded and disclosed a defined benefit plan as a defined contribution plan. During the period ended December 31, 2006, the Company has recorded an adjustment of Rs 78 as a credit to the income statement to record this plan as a defined benefit plan. The impact of this adjustment is not material to the income statement, accrued liability/(prepaid asset) and the overall financial statement presentation.

Superannuation. Apart from being covered under the Gratuity Plan described above, the senior officers of the Company also participate in a defined contribution plan maintained by the Company. This plan is administered by the LIC and ICICI. The Company makes annual contributions based on a specified percentage of each covered employee's salary. The Company has no further obligations under the plan beyond its annual contributions.

Provident fund. In addition to the above benefits, all employees receive benefits from a provident fund, a defined contribution plan. The employee and employer each make monthly contributions to the plan equal to 12% of the covered employee's salary. A portion of the contribution is made to the provident fund trust established by the Company, while the remainder of the contribution is made to the Government's provident fund.

The Company contributed Rs. 1,407, Rs. 1,014 and Rs. 1,722 to various defined contribution and benefit plans during the year ended March 31, 2007 and nine months ended December 31, 2006 and 2007 respectively.

24. Commitments and Contingencies

Capital commitments. As of March 31, 2007, December 31, 2006 and 2007, the Company had committed to spend approximately Rs. 3,432, Rs. 2,130 and Rs. 5,212 respectively under agreements to purchase property and equipment. These amounts are net of capital advances paid in respect of these purchases.

Other commitments. The Company's Indian operations have been established as a Software Technology Park Unit under a plan formulated by the Government of India. As per the plan, the Company's India operations have export obligations to the extent of 1.5 times the employee costs for the year on an annual basis and 5 times the amount of foreign exchange released for capital goods imported, over a five year period. The consequence of not meeting this commitment in the future would be a retroactive levy of import duty on certain computer hardware previously imported duty free. As of December 31, 2007, the Company has met commitments required under the plan.

As of March 31, 2007, December 31, 2006 and 2007, the Company had contractual obligations to spend approximately Rs. 3,160, Rs. 2,778 and Rs. 2,021 respectively; under purchase obligations, which include commitments to purchase goods or services of either fixed or minimum quantity that meet certain criteria.

Guarantees. As of March 31, 2007, December 31, 2006 and 2007 performance and financial guarantees provided by banks on behalf of the Company to the Indian Government, customers and certain other agencies amount to approximately Rs. 3,013, Rs. 4,327 and Rs. 4,656 respectively, as part of the bank line of credit.

Contingencies and lawsuits.

The Company had received tax demands from the Indian income tax authorities for the financial years ended March 31, 2001, 2002, 2003 and 2004 aggregating to Rs. 11,127 (including interest of Rs. 1,503). The tax demand was primarily on account of denial of deduction claimed by the Company under Section 10A of the Income Tax Act 1961, in respect of profits earned by its undertakings in Software Technology Park at Bangalore. The Company had appealed against these demands. The first appellate authority vacated the tax demands, which vacates a substantial portion of the demand for the aforementioned financial years. The income tax authorities have filed an appeal against the above orders.

Considering the facts and nature of disallowance and the order of the appellate authority upholding the claims of the Company, the Company believes that the final outcome of the above disputes should be in favour of the Company and there should not be any material impact on the financial statements. The range of loss relating to these contingencies is between zero and the amount of the demand raised.

Certain other income-tax related legal proceedings are pending against the Company. Potential liabilities, if any, have been adequately provided for, and the Company does not currently estimate any incremental liability in respect of these proceedings.

Additionally, the Company is also involved in lawsuits, claims, investigations and proceedings, including patent and commercial matters, which arise in the ordinary course of business. There are no such matters pending that the Company expects to be material in relation to its business.

25. Segment Information

The Company is currently organized by segments, including Global IT Services and Products (comprising of IT Services and BPO Services segments), India and AsiaPac IT Services and Products, Consumer Care and Lighting and Others .

The Chairman of the Company has been identified as the Chief Operating Decision Maker (CODM) as defined by SFAS No. 131, Disclosure about Segments of an Enterprise and Related Information. The Chairman of the Company evaluates the segments based on their revenue growth, operating income and return on capital employed. The management believes that return on capital employed is considered appropriate for evaluating the performance of its operating segments. Return on capital employed is calculated as operating income divided by the average of the capital employed at the beginning and at the end of the period.

Operating segments with similar economic characteristics and complying with other aggregation criteria specified in SFAS No. 131 have been combined to form the Company's reportable segments. Consequently, IT Services and BPO services qualify as reportable segments under Global IT Services and Products.

Until March 31, 2007, the operations of certain acquired entities were reviewed by the CODM separately and were accordingly reported separately as Acquisitions . During the period ended December 31, 2007, the Company integrated these acquired entities under the IT Services segment and accordingly the CODM no longer reviews separate information relating to these acquired entities.

Similarly, acquisitions relating to the IT Services segment made during the period ended December 31, 2007, includes Infocrossing, are currently being reviewed by the CODM separately and have accordingly been reported separately as Acquisitions .

The IT Services segment provides research and development services for hardware and software design to technology and telecommunication companies, software application development services to corporate enterprises. The BPO services segment provides Business Process Outsourcing services to large global corporations.

The India and AsiaPac IT Services and Products segment focuses primarily on addressing the IT and electronic commerce requirements of companies in India, MiddleEast and AsiaPacific region.

The Consumer Care and Lighting segment manufactures, distributes and sells soaps, toiletries, lighting products and hydrogenated cooking oils for the Indian and Asian market.

Others consist of business segments that do not meet the requirements individually for a reportable segment as defined in SFAS No. 131. Corporate activities such as treasury, legal and accounting, which do not qualify as operating segments under SFAS No. 131 have been considered as reconciling items. Additionally, fringe benefit tax, which is an expenditure related tax, incurred by the Company is not allocated to individual segments and is reported as a reconciling item.

Segment data for previous periods has been reclassified on a comparable basis. Information on reportable segments is as follows:

In September 2007, we acquired Infocrossing, a leading IT infrastructure management service provider in US. This acquisition expands our data center and mainframe capabilities and strengthens our competitive positioning in the remote infrastructure management services.

In India, we are a leader in providing IT solutions and services. We also have a profitable presence in the markets for consumer products and lighting.

Acquisitions

On July 30, 2007, we acquired 100% of the equity of Unza. Unza is an independent manufacturer and marketer of personal care products in South East Asia. Unza markets a wide portfolio of personal care and detergent brands in several countries. The consideration (including direct acquisition costs) included a cash payment of Rs. 9,273 and a deferred payment of Rs. 981. We believe that this acquisition would strengthen our brand portfolio and market presence in South East Asia and provide synergy in terms of access to common vendors, formulation and brands.

On September 20, 2007, we acquired Infocrossing through a tender offer for an aggregate consideration of Rs. 17,640 million. In addition, upon acquisition we assumed liabilities amounting to Rs. 5,101 million towards payments due to holders of convertible debt and outstanding stock options.

Results of operations for the three months ended December 31, 2007 and 2006

Our total revenues increased by Rs. 12,725 million or 32% from Rs. 39,636 million for the three months ended December 31, 2006 to Rs. 52,361 million for the three months ended December 31, 2007. As a percentage of total revenue, gross profit declined by 2% from 31% for the three months ended December 31, 2006 to 29% for the three months ended December 31, 2007. The increase was primarily due to an increase in revenue from system integration services and growth in our core business of hardware and software support and maintenance services and integration of our acquisition of 3D Networks.

As a percentage of India and AsiaPac IT Services and Products revenue, gross profits declined marginally by 1% from 23% for the nine months ended December 31, 2006 to 22% for the nine month ended December 31, 2007. Products typically have lower gross margins.

Selling and marketing expenses for our India and AsiaPac IT Services and Products business increased by Rs. 1,095 million or 77% from Rs. 1,422 million for the nine months ended December 31, 2006 to Rs. 2,518 million for the nine months ended December 31, 2007. This was primarily due to increase in the number of sales and marketing personnel for this business segment, increase in carriage and freight expenses due to increase in volume of the product sold and an increase in expenditure on travel due to increased promotional activities in select geographies in this business segment.

General and administrative expenses for our India and AsiaPac IT Services and Products business increased by Rs. 287 million or 32% from Rs. 884 million for the nine months ended December 31, 2006 to Rs. 1,171 million for the nine months ended December 31, 2007. Consumer Care and Lighting

We leverage our brand name and distribution strengths to sustain a profitable presence in niche markets in the areas of soaps, toiletries, lighting products, hydrogenated cooking oils and many more products for the Indian market. 2007. This was primarily due to integration of our acquisition of Hydrauto group from November 2006 resulting in additional revenues of Rs. 701 million and increase in the revenues from the sale of hydraulic cylinders and tipping gear systems.

As a percentage of Others revenue, gross profit increased by 3% from 14% of revenue for the three months ended December 31, 2006 to 17% of revenue for the three months ended December 31, 2007. This increase was primarily due to expansion in gross profit of Hydrauto from 6% for the three months ended December 31, 2006 to 13% for the three months ended December 31, 2007. Gross profit of Hydrauto increased primarily due to better capacity utilization and lower input costs.

As a result of the above, operating income of Others, (including reconciling items), increased from Rs. 65 million for the three months ended December 31, 2006 to Rs. 200 million for the three months ended December 31, 2007.

Results of operations for the nine months ended December 31, 2007 and 2006

As a percentage of Others revenue, gross profit declined by 2% from 19% of revenue for the nine months ended December 31, 2006 to 17% of revenue for the nine months ended December 31, 2007. General and administrative expenses for Others, (including reconciling items), increased by Rs. 289 million or 99% from Rs. 291 million for the nine months ended December 31, 2006 to Rs. 580 million for the nine months ended December 31, 2007. This was primarily due to integration of our acquisition of Hydrauto group from November 2006 which resulted in additional general and administrative expenses of Rs. 322 million.

Exchange rate fluctuation, net increased to Rs. 625 million for the nine months ended December 31, 2007. This was primarily due to foreign currency translation or settlement impact of foreign currency overseas corporate deposits and loans.

As a result of the above, operating income of Others, including reconciling items, decreased by Rs. 208 million; from Rs. 230 million for the nine months ended December 31, 2006 to Rs. 21 million for the nine months ended December 31, 2007.

Stock Compensation

Effective April 1, 2006, we adopted SFAS No. 123 (revised 2004), Share-Based Payment, (SFAS No. 123 (R)) which requires the measurement and recognition of compensation expense for all stock-based payment awards which are based on the grant-date fair value of those awards. Previously, we had used the intrinsic value based method, permitted by Accounting Principles Board (APB) Opinion No. 25, Accounting for Stock issued to Employees, to account for our employee stock-based compensation plans and had adopted the pro-forma disclosure provisions of SFAS No. 123, Accounting for Stock-Based Compensation.

Table of Contents

We have adopted SFAS No. 123(R) using the modified prospective application method. Under this approach we have recognized compensation expense for share-based payment awards granted prior to, but not yet vested as of April 1, 2006, based on the grant date fair value estimated in accordance with the provisions of SFAS No. 123.

We have recognized stock compensation cost of Rs. 898 million and Rs. 926 million for the nine months ended December 31, 2006 and 2007 respectively. The stock compensation charge has been allocated to cost of revenue and selling and marketing expenses and general and administrative expenses in line with the nature of the service rendered by the employee who received the benefit.

The allocation is as follows:

	Three months ended December 31,		Nine months ended December 31,
	2006	2007	2006	2007
	(in millions)		(in millions)
Cost of revenue	Rs 269	Rs. 236	Rs 704	Rs 724
Selling and marketing expenses	44	38	107	117
General and administrative expenses	37	28	87	85
	Rs 350	Rs. 302	Rs 898	Rs 926

Amortization of Intangible Assets

Intangible assets are amortized over their estimated useful lives in proportion to the economic benefits consumed in each period. We have amortized intangible assets of Rs. 307 million and Rs. 503 million for the nine months ended December 31, 2006 and 2007 respectively.

The marketing and customer related intangibles relating to Unza and Infocrossing acquisitions have been determined on a preliminary basis. Further, we are in the process of determining components of marketing related intangibles which have indefinite life, and those, which have determinable life. Finalization of the purchase price allocation can result in changes to the amounts allocated to and the estimate of useful lives of marketing and customer related intangibles.

Foreign Exchange Gains, net

Our foreign exchange gains, net, comprises of:

exchange differences arising from the translation or settlement of transactions in foreign currency; the changes in fair value for derivatives not designated as hedging derivatives and ineffective portion of the hedging instruments. For foreign exchange derivative contracts, which are designated and effective as accounting hedges, the effective portion of marked to market gains and losses are deferred and reported as a component of other comprehensive income in stockholders' equity, until the hedged transaction occurs. On occurrence of the hedged transaction, these amounts are reclassified to the consolidated statements of income and reported along with the hedged item.

Other Income, net

Our other income includes interest income on short-term investments, interest expense on debt, dividend income, realized gains/(losses) on the sale of investment securities and gains/(losses) on sale of property, plant and equipment.

WM Netserv. We previously recorded our 80.1% ownership interest in WM Netserv by the equity method as the minority shareholder in the investee has substantive participative rights as specified in EITF Issue No. 96-16, Investor's Accounting for an Investee When the Investor Has a Majority of the Voting Interest but the Minority Shareholder or Shareholders Have Certain Approval or Veto Right. In October 2007, we purchased the minority interest of 19.9% in WM NetServ for a cash consideration of Rs. 13 million. Subsequent to the acquisition, the financial statements of WM NetServ have been consolidated.

Income Taxes

Our net income earned from providing services at client premises outside India is subject to tax in the country where we perform the work. Most of our tax paid in countries other than India can be applied as a credit against our Indian tax liability to the extent that the same income is liable to tax in India.

Currently, we benefit from certain tax incentives under Indian tax laws. As a result of these incentives, our operations have not been subject to significant Indian tax liabilities. These tax incentives currently include a tax holiday from payment of Indian corporate income taxes for our Global IT Services and Products business operated from specially designated Software Technology Parks and Special Economic Zones in India and an income tax deduction of 100% for profits derived from exporting information technology services. As a result, a substantial portion of our pre-tax income has not been subject to significant tax in recent years. We are currently also eligible for exemptions from other taxes, including customs duties. When our tax holiday and income tax deduction exemptions expire or terminate, our costs will increase. Additionally, the Government of India could enact tax laws in the future, which could further impair our other tax incentives.

In the Finance Act, 2005, the Government of India introduced a separate tax holiday scheme for units set up under designated special economic zones engaged in manufacture of articles or in provision of services. Under this scheme, units in designated special economic zones which begin providing services on or after April 1, 2005 will be eligible for a deduction of 100 percent of profits or gains derived from the export of services for the first five years from commencement of provision of services and 50 percent of such profits or gains for a further five years. Certain tax benefits are also available for a further five years subject to the unit meeting defined conditions.

We received tax demands from the Indian income tax authorities for the financial years ended March 31, 2001, 2002, 2003 and 2004 aggregating to Rs. 11,127 (including interest of Rs. 1,503). The tax demand was primarily on account of denial of deduction claimed by us under Section 10A of the Income Tax Act 1961, in respect of profits earned by our undertakings in Software Technology Park at Bangalore. We appealed against these demands. The first appellate authority vacated the tax demands, which vacates a substantial portion of the demand for the aforementioned financial years. The income tax authorities have filed an appeal against the above order. Considering the facts and nature of disallowance and the order of the appellate authority upholding the claims of the Company for earlier years, we believe that the final outcome of the above disputes should be in our favor and there should not be any material impact on the financial statements. The range of loss relating these contingencies is between zero and the amount of demand. Although we currently believe we will ultimately prevail in our appeal, the results of such appeal, and any subsequent appeals, cannot be predicted with certainty. Should we fail to prevail in our appeal, or any subsequent appeals, in any reporting period, the operating results of such reporting period could be materially adversely affected.

Pursuant to the changes in the Indian Income Tax Laws, Minimum Alternate Tax (MAT) has been extended to income in respect of which deduction is claimed under sections 10A and 10B; consequently, we have calculated our tax liability for current domestic taxes after considering MAT. The excess tax paid under MAT provisions over and above normal tax liability can be carried-forward and set-off against future tax liabilities computed under normal tax provisions.

The Indian Finance Act, 2005 imposes an additional income tax on companies called a Fringe Benefits Tax, or FBT. Pursuant to this Act, companies are deemed to have provided fringe benefits to their employees if certain defined expenses are incurred. A portion of these expenses is deemed to be a fringe benefit to the employees and subjects a company to tax at a rate of 30%, exclusive of applicable surcharge and cess. The Fringe Benefits Tax and other similar taxes enacted in the future by the Government of India could adversely affect our profitability. In our income statement, the FBT is allocated as cost of revenues, selling and marketing expenses and general and administrative expenses on the basis of its nature.

During the period ended December 31, 2007, the Indian Income Tax Act was amended to levy a tax titled Fringe Benefit Tax (FBT) on employee stock options. FBT is assessed on all stock options that are exercised on or after April 1, 2007, and is based on the intrinsic value of the stock options on the vesting date. We record the FBT liability at the time of exercise of employee stock options. The FBT liability is calculated based on intrinsic value of stock options at the date of vesting. The tax laws permit the employer to recover the FBT from the employee as the tax relates to benefits accruing to the employees. Pursuant to such, we have amended our stock option plans to recover the amount from the employees. For options granted prior to 31 March 2007, although the FBT expense will be recorded through Consolidated Statement of Income, the corresponding recovery, which is directly linked to exercise of stock options will be recorded as an additional exercise price. The FBT liability for exercisable and unvested options pertaining to such grants as at December 31, 2007 is approximately Rs. 1,802 million which will be recorded through future earnings.

Effective April 1, 2007, we adopted Financial Accounting Standards Board Interpretation 48, Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes – An Interpretation of Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 109 (FIN 48). The adoption of FIN 48 did not have any impact on the retained earnings or provision for taxation as of April 1, 2007. Our unrecognized tax benefits increased by Rs.190 during the period ended December 31, 2007 due to non-recognition of certain credits in computation of minimum alternate tax eligible for deferral and set off against regular income taxes in the future. Our unrecognized tax benefits decreased by Rs.489 during the period ended December 31, 2007 due to reversal of tax provision upon settlement of tax assessment by the tax authorities in a particular tax jurisdiction, expiry of statutory limitation and revision of tax accruals relating to transfer pricing.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

As of December 31, 2007, we had cash and cash equivalents of Rs.15,999 million, investments in liquid and short-term mutual funds of Rs.17,738 million and an unused line of credit of approximately Rs.6,751 million, US$ 203 million, SEK 82 million and MYR 60 million. To utilize the line of credit we need to comply with certain financial covenants. As of December 31, 2007, we were in compliance with such financial covenants. We have historically financed our working capital and capital expenditure through our operating cash flows, and, to a limited extent, through bank debt.

Cash provided by operating activities for the nine months ended December 31, 2007 was Rs. 17,239 million, as compared to Rs. 21,541 million in the nine months ended December 31, 2006. The decline of Rs. 4,428 million was primarily due to Rs. 5,608 million increases in our operating assets and decrease in the operating liabilities by Rs. 232 million. This was offset by increase in our net income and depreciation and amortization.

During the nine month ended December 31, 2007 the operating assets increased by Rs. 5,608 million as compared to the nine month ended December 31, 2006 primarily due to increase in the volume of operations, inventory turns, rentals paid in advance for leasehold land and cost deferrals primarily resulting from the application of contingent revenue provision of EITF 00-21, Revenue arrangements with multiple deliverables. This was partly offset by the decrease in the receivable days. The decrease in the operating liabilities is primarily attributable to early payment of liabilities denominated in foreign currency.

Cash used in investing activities for the nine months ended December 31, 2007 was Rs. 26,760 million as compared to Rs. 22,833 million for the nine months ended December 31, 2006. Cash generated from operation, net proceeds from sale/maturity of investments and net proceeds from borrowings/long term debt were utilized for financing the acquisitions amounting to Rs. 32,837 million and purchase of property, plant and equipment, which is primarily driven by the growth strategy of the Company.

Cash provided by financing activities for the nine months ended December 31, 2007 was Rs. 13,076 million as compared to cash used in financing activities of Rs. 2,789 million for the nine months ended December 31, 2006. Net proceeds from borrowings/long term debt have been temporarily used to fund the acquisitions.

As of December 31, 2007 we had contractual commitments of Rs. 14,879 million related to capital expenditures on construction or expansion of software development facilities, non-cancelable operating lease obligations and other purchase obligations. Plans to construct or expand our software development facilities are dictated by business requirements.

We routinely review potential acquisitions. We expect that our cash and cash equivalents, investments in liquid and short term mutual funds and the cash flows expected to be generated from our operations in future would generally be sufficient to fund our expansion plans. However for strategic acquisitions we could be required to obtain additional debt or equity financing.

In the normal course of business, we transfer accounts receivables and employee advances (financial assets) to banks. These transfers can be with or without recourse. As of December 31, 2007, we have transferred financial assets of Rs. 156 million.

Our liquidity and capital requirements are affected by many factors, some of which are based on the normal ongoing operations of our businesses and some of which arise from uncertainties related to global economies and the markets that we target for our services. We cannot be certain that additional financing, primarily for acquisitions, if needed, will be available on favorable terms, if at all.

Off-Balance Sheet Arrangements

We have not entered into any off-balance sheet arrangements as defined by SEC Final Rule 67 (FR-67), Disclosure in Management's Discussion and Analysis about Off-Balance Sheet Arrangements and Aggregate Contractual Obligations.

If the obligation to purchase goods or services is non-cancelable, the entire value of the contract was included in the above table. If the obligation is cancelable, but we would incur a penalty if cancelled, the amount of the penalty was included as a purchase obligation.

Other liabilities in the balance sheet also include amount of Rs. 2,065 million towards uncertain tax positions. For these amounts, the extent of the amount and timing of payment/cash settlement is not reliably estimable or determinable, at present, and accordingly have not been disclosed in the

Trend Information

Global IT Services and Products. We believe that the increasing acceptance of outsourcing and off shoring of activities as an economic necessity has contributed to continued growth in our revenue. However, the increased competition among IT companies, commoditization of services and high volume transactions in IT services limits our ability to increase our prices and improve our profits. We continually strive to differentiate ourselves from the competition, develop innovative service delivery models, adopt new pricing strategies and demonstrate our value proposition to the client to sustain prices and profits. We have also acquired businesses to augment our existing services and capabilities.

Our gross profit as a percentage of revenues in Global IT Services and Products has declined from 34% for the nine month ended December 31, 2006 to 32% for the nine months ended December 31, 2007. We anticipate difficulty in further improving our profits due to:

Our limited ability to increase prices;

Increases in proportion of services performed at client location some of our newer service offerings, such as consulting and package implementation, require a higher proportion of services to be performed at the client's premises;

Increases in wages for our IT professionals;

The impact of amortization of stock compensation cost;

The impact of exchange rate fluctuations on our rupee realizations; and

The impact of the high percentage on fixed costs, high attrition rates and high composition of voiced based services in our revenues from BPO services.

Lower gross margins in our IT infrastructure management services business of Infocrossing

We expect these trends to continue for the foreseeable future. In response to the pressure on gross margins and the increased competition from other IT services companies, we are focusing on offering services with higher margins, strengthening our delivery model, increasing employee productivity, investing in emerging technology areas, managing our cost structure, aligning our resources to expected demand and increasing the utilization of our IT professionals.

To remain competitive, we believe that we need to be innovative, identify and position ourselves in emerging technology areas and increase our understanding of industries and businesses and impact of IT on such business. Our Global IT Services and Products business segment is also subject to fluctuations primarily resulting from factors such as:

The effect of seasonal hiring which occurs in the quarter ended December 31;

The time required to train and productively use new employees;

The proportion of services we perform at client sites for a particular project;

Exchange rate fluctuations; and

The size, timing and profitability of new projects.

India and AsiaPac IT Services and Products. In our India and AsiaPac IT Services and Products business segment we have experienced pricing pressures due to increased competition among IT companies. Large multinational corporations like IBM, Lenovo and HP have identified India as a key focus area. The gross margins in the products component of this business segment increased from 9% for the nine months ended December 31, 2006 to 12% for the nine months ended December 31, 2007.

Our India and AsiaPac IT Services and Products business segment is also subject to seasonal fluctuations. Our product revenue is driven by capital expenditure budgets and the spending patterns of our clients, who often delay or accelerate purchases in reaction to tax depreciation benefits on capital equipment. As a result, our India and AsiaPac IT Services and products revenue for the quarters ended March 31 and December 31 are typically higher than other quarters of the year. We believe the impact of this fluctuation on our revenue will decrease as the proportion of services revenue increases.

Consumer Care and Lighting. Our Consumer Care and Lighting business segment is also subject to seasonal fluctuations. Our revenues in this segment are also subject to commodity price fluctuations.

Our quarterly revenue, operating income and net income have varied significantly in the past and we expect that they are likely to vary in the future. You should not rely on our quarterly operating results as an indication of future performance. Such quarterly fluctuations may have an impact on the price of our equity shares and ADSs.

Critical accounting policies

Critical accounting policies are defined as those that in our view are most important to the portrayal of our financial condition and results and that place the most significant demands on management's judgment. For a detailed discussion on the application of these and other accounting policies, please refer to Note 2 to the Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements.

Revenue Recognition

We derive our revenues primarily from two sources: (i) product revenue and (ii) service revenue.

Product Revenue

Product revenue is recognized when there is persuasive evidence of an arrangement, the product has been delivered, the sales price is fixed or determinable, and collectibility is reasonably assured. The product is considered delivered to the customer once it has been shipped and title and risk of loss has been transferred.

We generally consider a binding purchase order or a signed contract as persuasive evidence of an arrangement.

Persuasive evidence of an arrangement may take different forms depending upon the customary practices of a specific class of customers.

Table of Contents*Service Revenue*

Service revenue is recognized when there is persuasive evidence of an arrangement, the sales price is fixed or determinable, and collectibility is reasonably assured. Time-and-materials service contract revenue is recognized as the services are rendered. Revenue from fixed-price, fixed-timeframe contracts that involve significant production, modification or customization of the software is accounted for in conformity with ARB No. 45, using the guidance in Statement of Position (SOP) 81-1, and the Accounting Standards Executive Committee's conclusion in paragraph 95 of SOP 97-2, Software Revenue Recognition. Fixed-price, fixed-timeframe contracts, which are similar to contracts to design, develop, manufacture, or modify complex aerospace or electronic equipment to a buyer's specification or to provide services related to the performance of such contracts and contracts for services performed by architects, engineers, or architectural or engineering design firms as laid out in paragraph 13 of SOP 81-1, are also accounted for in conformity with SOP 81-1. In these fixed-price, fixed-timeframe contracts revenue is recognized using the percentage-of-completion method.

We use the input (cost expended) method to measure progress towards completion. Percentage of completion method accounting relies on estimates of total expected contract revenue and costs. We follow this method when reasonably dependable estimates of the revenues and costs applicable to various elements of the contract can be made. Key factors we review to estimate the future costs to complete include estimates of future labor costs and productivity efficiencies. Because the financial reporting of these contracts depends on estimates that are assessed continually during the term of these contracts, recognized revenue and profit are subject to revisions as the contract progresses to completion. When estimates indicate that a loss will be incurred, the loss is provided for in the period in which the loss becomes evident. To date, we have not had any fixed-price, fixed-timeframe contracts that resulted in a material loss.

We evaluate change orders to determine whether such change orders are normal element and form part of the original scope of the contract. If the change orders are part of the original scope of the contract, no changes are made to the contract price. For other change orders, contract revenue and costs are adjusted only after the approval of the changes to the scope and price by us and the client. Costs that are incurred for a specific anticipated contract and that will result in no future benefits unless the contract is obtained are not included in contract costs before the receipt of the contract. However, such costs are deferred only if the cost can be directly associated with specific anticipated contract and the recoverability from that contract is deemed to be probable.

Maintenance revenue is recognized ratably over the term of the agreement. Revenue from customer training, support and other services is recognized as the related services are performed.

Revenues from BPO Services are derived from both time-based and unit-priced contracts. Revenue is recognized as services are performed under the specific terms of the contracts with the customers.

Revenue Arrangements with Multiple Deliverables

Based on the guidance in EITF Issue No. 00-21, we recognize revenues on the delivered products or services only if:
The revenue recognition criteria applicable to the unit of accounting is met;

The delivered element has value to the customer on a standalone basis. The delivered unit will have value on a standalone basis if it is being sold separately by other vendors or the customer could resell the deliverable on a standalone basis;

There is objective and reliable evidence of the fair value of the undelivered item(s); and

If the arrangement includes a general right of return relative to the delivered item, delivery or performance of the undelivered item(s) is considered probable and substantially in our control.

The arrangement consideration is allocated to the units of accounting based on their fair values. The revenue recognized for the delivered items is limited to the amount that is not contingent upon the delivery or performance of the undelivered items. In certain cases, the application of the contingent revenue provisions of EITF Issue No. 00-21 could result in recognizing a loss on the delivered element. In such cases, the cost recognized is limited to the amount of non-contingent revenues recognized and the balance of costs are recorded as an asset and are reviewed for impairment based on the estimated net cash flows to be received for future deliverables under the contract. These costs are subsequently recognized on recognition of the revenue allocable to the balance of deliverables.

Assessments about whether the delivered units have a value to the customer on a standalone basis, impact of returns and similar contractual provisions, and determination of fair value of each unit would affect the timing of revenue recognition and would impact our results of operations.

Accounting Estimates

While preparing financial statements we make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amount of assets, liabilities, disclosure of contingent liabilities at the date of financial statements and the reported amount of revenues and expenses for the reporting period. Specifically, we make estimates of the uncollectibility of our accounts receivable by analyzing historical payment patterns, customer concentrations, customer credit-worthiness and current economic trends. If the financial condition of the customers deteriorates, additional allowances may be required. Our estimate of liability relating to pending litigation is based on currently available facts and our assessment of the probability of an unfavorable outcome. Considering the uncertainties about the ultimate outcome and the amount of losses, we re-assess our estimates as additional information becomes available. Such revisions in our estimates could materially impact our results of operations and our financial position.

In accounting for amortization of stock compensation we estimate stock options forfeitures. Any revisions in our estimates could impact our results of operations and our financial position.

We provide for inventory obsolescence, excess inventory and inventories with carrying values in excess of market values based on our assessment of the future demands, market conditions and our specific inventory management initiatives. If the market conditions and actual demands are less favorable than our estimates, additional inventory write-downs may be required. In all cases inventory is carried at the lower of historical costs or market value.

Accounting for Income taxes

As part of the process of preparing our consolidated financial statements we are required to estimate our income taxes in each of the jurisdictions in which we operate. We are subject to tax assessments in each of these jurisdictions. A tax assessment can involve complex issues, which can only be resolved over extended time periods. Though we have considered all these issues in estimating our income taxes, there could be an unfavorable resolution of such issues that may affect results of our operations.

We also assess the temporary differences resulting from differential treatment of certain items for tax and accounting purposes. These differences result in deferred tax assets and liabilities, which are recognized in our consolidated financial statements. We assess our deferred tax assets on an ongoing basis by assessing our valuation allowance and adjusting the valuation allowance appropriately. In calculating our valuation allowance we consider the future taxable incomes and the feasibility of tax planning initiatives. If we estimate that the deferred tax asset cannot be realized at the recorded value, a valuation allowance is created with a charge to the statement of income in the period in which such assessment is made. We have not created a deferred tax liability in respect of the basis difference in the carrying value of investments in domestic subsidiaries, since we expect to realize this in a tax-free manner and the current tax laws in India provide means by which we can realize our investment in a tax-free manner.

We are subject to a 15% branch profit tax in the United States to the extent the net profit attributable to our U.S. branch for the fiscal year is greater than the increase in the net assets of the U.S. branch for the fiscal year, as computed in accordance with the Internal Revenue Code. We have not triggered the branch profit tax and, consistent with our business plan, we intend to maintain the current level of our net assets in the United States. Accordingly, we did not record a provision for branch profit tax.

We account for uncertainty in income taxes in the financial statements in accordance with Financial Accounting Standards Board Interpretation No. 48, Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes – an Interpretation of FASB Statement No. 109 (FIN 48). The accounting and disclosure of tax positions taken or expected to be taken on a tax return are based on the recognition threshold and measurement attribute as prescribed by FIN 48. We recognize penalties and interest related to unrecognized tax benefits as a component of other income, net.

Business Combinations, Goodwill and Intangible Assets

In accordance with SFAS No. 142, Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets, we have assigned all the assets and liabilities, including goodwill, to the reporting units. We review goodwill for impairment annually and whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate the carrying value of goodwill may not be recoverable. The provisions of SFAS No. 142 require that a two-step impairment test be performed on goodwill. In the first step, we compare the fair value of the reporting unit to its carrying value. We determine the fair value of our reporting units using the income approach. Under the income approach, we calculate the fair value of a reporting unit based on measurement techniques such as discounted cash flow analyses. If the fair value of the reporting unit exceeds the carrying value of the net assets assigned to that unit, goodwill is not impaired and we are not required to perform further testing. If the carrying value of the net assets assigned to the reporting unit exceeds the fair value of the reporting unit, then we must perform the second step in order to determine the implied fair value of the reporting unit's goodwill and compare it to the carrying value of the reporting unit's goodwill. The implied fair value of goodwill is determined in the same manner as the amount of goodwill recognized in a business combination. That is, the fair value of the reporting unit is allocated to all of the assets and liabilities of that unit (including any unrecognized intangible assets) as if the reporting unit had been acquired in a business combination and the fair value of the reporting unit was the purchase price paid to acquire the reporting unit. If the carrying value of a reporting unit's goodwill exceeds its implied fair value, then we must record an impairment loss equal to the difference.

To assist in the process of determining goodwill impairment, we obtain appraisals from independent valuation firms. In addition we perform internal valuation analyses and consider other market information that is publicly available. The discounted cash flow approach and the income approach, which we use to estimate the fair value of our reporting units, are dependent on a number of factors including estimates of future market growth and trends, forecasted revenue and costs, appropriate discount rates and other variables. We base our fair value estimates on assumptions we believe to be reasonable, but which are unpredictable and inherently uncertain. Actual future results may differ from those estimates.

In accordance with Business Combination accounting, we allocate the purchase price of acquired companies to the tangible and intangible assets acquired and liabilities assumed based on their estimated fair values. We also engage third-party appraisal firms to assist us in determining the fair values of certain assets acquired and liabilities assumed. Such valuations require us to make significant estimates and assumptions, especially with respect to intangible assets.

Derivatives and Hedge Accounting, and Exchange Rate Risk

Although our functional currency is the Indian rupee, we transact a major portion of our business in foreign currencies, particularly the U.S. dollar. The exchange rate between the rupee and the dollar has changed substantially in recent years and may fluctuate substantially in the future. Consequently, the results of our operations are adversely affected as the rupee appreciates against the U.S. dollar. Our exchange rate risk primarily arises from our foreign currency revenues, receivables, cash balances, payables and debt. We enter into derivative instruments to hedge our foreign currency accounts receivables, forecasted cash flows denominated in certain foreign currencies, foreign currency debt and net investment in overseas operations. The derivative instruments also include short term forward foreign exchange contracts pursuant to a roll-over hedging strategy which are replaced with successive new contracts up to the period in which the forecasted transactions are expected to occur. We also designate zero-cost collars, which qualify as net purchased options, to hedge the exposure to variability in expected future foreign currency cash inflows due to exchange rate movements.

We designate the derivatives in respect of forecasted transactions, which meet the hedging criteria, as cash flow hedges. Changes in the derivative fair values that are designated, effective and qualify as cash flow hedges, under SFAS No. 133 Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities, are deferred and recorded as a component of accumulated other comprehensive income until the hedged transactions occur. On occurrence of the hedged transaction, these amounts are reclassified to the consolidated statements of income and reported along with the hedged item. With respect to derivatives acquired pursuant to the roll-over hedging strategy, the changes in the fair value of discount or forward premium points are recognized in consolidated statements of income of each period. Gains and losses upon roll-over of derivatives acquired pursuant to the roll-over hedging strategy are deferred and recorded as a component of accumulated other comprehensive income until the hedged transactions occur and are reclassified to the consolidated statements of income and reported along with the hedged item.

The Company has hedged the foreign currency risk relating to a portion of its investments in overseas operations through foreign exchange derivative contracts. The entire mark to market and realized gains/losses relating to the effective portion of the hedges is recognized in other comprehensive income to offset the translation gains/losses relating to the hedged investments.

Changes in fair value for derivatives not designated as hedging derivatives and ineffective portion of the hedging instruments are recognized in consolidated statements of income of each period. We assess the hedge effectiveness at the end of each reporting period, generally using the dollar offset method.

Hedge ineffectiveness could result from forecasted transactions not happening in the same amounts or in the same periods as forecasted or changes in the counterparty credit rating. Further, change in the basis of designating derivatives as hedges of forecasted transactions could alter the proportion of derivatives which are ineffective as hedges. Hedge ineffectiveness increases volatility of the consolidated statements of income since the changes in fair value of an ineffective portion of derivatives is immediately recognized in the consolidated statements of income. We may not purchase adequate instruments to insulate ourselves from foreign exchange currency risks. The policies of the Reserve Bank of India may change from time to time which may limit our ability to hedge our foreign currency exposures adequately. In addition, any such instruments may not perform adequately as a hedging mechanism. We may, in the future, adopt more active hedging policies, and have done so in the past.

As of December 31, 2007, there were no significant gains or losses on derivative transactions or portions thereof that have become ineffective as hedges, or associated with an underlying exposure that did not occur.

Item 3. Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosure about Market Risk.

General

Market risk is the risk of loss of future earnings, to fair values or to future cash flows that may result from a change in the price of a financial instrument. The value of a financial instrument may change as a result of changes in the interest rates, foreign currency exchange rates, commodity prices, equity prices and other market changes that affect market risk sensitive instruments. Market risk is attributable to all market risk sensitive financial instruments including foreign currency receivables and payables and long-term debt.

Our exposure to market risk is a function of our investment and borrowing activities and our revenue generating activities in foreign currency. The objective of market risk management is to avoid excessive exposure of our earnings and equity to losses.

Table of Contents*Risk Management Procedures*

We manage market risk through a corporate treasury department, which evaluates and exercises independent control over the entire process of market risk management. Our corporate treasury department recommends risk management objectives and policies, which are approved by senior management and our Audit Committee. The activities of this department include management of cash resources, implementing hedging strategies for foreign currency exposures, borrowing strategies, and ensuring compliance with market risk limits and policies on a daily basis.

Components of Market Risk

Our exposure to market risk arises principally from exchange rate risk. Interest rate risk is the other component of our market risk.

Exchange rate risk. Our exchange rate risk primarily arises from our foreign exchange revenue, receivables, cash balances, forecasted cash flows, payables and foreign currency debt. A significant portion of our revenue is in U.S. dollars, euro and pound sterling while a significant portion of our costs are in Indian rupees. The exchange rate between the rupee and dollar, euro and pound sterling has fluctuated significantly in recent years and may continue to fluctuate in the future. Appreciation of the rupee against these currencies can adversely affect our results of operations.

We evaluate our exchange rate exposure arising from these transactions and enter into foreign currency derivative contracts to mitigate such exposure. We follow established risk management policies, including the use of derivatives like forward foreign exchange contracts to hedge forecasted cash flows denominated in foreign currency. As of December 31, 2006, we had derivative contracts to sell amounting to $456 million, £76 million and Euro 7 million. As of December 31, 2007, we had derivative contracts to sell amounting to $ 2,032 million, £ 132 million and Euro 25 million. As of December 31, 2006, we had derivative contracts to buy amounting to $ 15 million and £ 3 million. As of December 31, 2007, we had derivative contracts to buy amounting to $ 515 million, £ 42 million and ¥ 4,906 million. As of December 31, 2007, we had options to sell amounting to $ 258 million.

In connection with cash flow hedges, we have recorded Rs. 115 million and Rs. 942 million of net gains/(losses) as a component of accumulated and other comprehensive income within stockholders' equity as at December 31, 2006 and December 31, 2007.

Sensitivity analysis of exchange rate risk As at December 31, 2007, a Rupee 1 appreciation /depreciation in the spot rate for exchange of Indian Rupee with U.S. dollar would result in approximately Rs. 3,016 million decrease/increase in the fair value of the our derivative contracts.

Interest rate risk. Our interest rate risk primarily arises from our investment securities and fixed rate debt. Our investments and fixed rate debt are primarily for short term and therefore these do not expose us to significant interest rate risk.

Fair value. The fair value of our market rate risk sensitive instruments, other than forward contracts and option contracts, closely approximates their carrying value.

Item 4. Controls and Procedures.Evaluation of disclosure controls and procedures.

Based on their evaluation as of December 31, 2007, our principal executive officer and principal financial officer have concluded that our disclosure controls and procedures, as defined in Rules 13a-15(e) and 15d-15(e) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, or the Exchange Act, are effective to ensure that information required to be disclosed by us in reports that we file or submit under the Exchange Act is recorded, processed, summarized and reported within the time periods specified in Securities and Exchange Commission rules and forms.

Table of Contents*Change in internal controls.*

During the period covered by this Quarterly Report, there were no changes in our internal control over financial reporting that have materially affected or are reasonably likely to materially affect our internal control over financial reporting.

PART II OTHER INFORMATIONItem 1. Legal Proceedings.

Income Taxes. The Company has received tax demands from the Indian income tax authorities for the financial years ended March 31, 2001, 2002, 2003 and 2004 aggregating to Rs. 11,127 (including interest of Rs. 1,503 million). The tax demand was primarily on account of denial of deduction claimed by the Company under Section 10A of the Income Tax Act 1961, in respect of profits earned by its undertakings in Software Technology Park at Bangalore. The Company has appealed against these demands. In March 2006, the first appellate authority vacated the tax demands for the years ended March 31, 2001 and 2002. The income tax authorities have filed an appeal for the year ended March 31, 2001 and 2002.

In March 2007 and July 2007, the first Income tax appellate authority upheld the deductions claimed under Section 10A of the Act, which vacates a substantial portion of the demand for the year ended March 31, 2003 and 2004.

Considering the facts and nature of disallowance and the order of the appellate authority upholding the claims of the Company for earlier years, the Company believes that the final outcome of the above disputes should be in its favor and there should not be any material impact on the financial statements.

Item 1A. Risk Factors.

This Quarterly Report contains forward-looking statements that involve risks and uncertainties. Our actual results could differ materially from those anticipated in these forward-looking statements as a result of certain factors, including those set forth in our Annual Report on Form 20-F for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2007. The information presented below updates and should be read in conjunction with the Risk Factors and information disclosed in our Annual Report on Form 20-F for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2007, which Risk Factors and Information are incorporated herein by reference. The Risk Factors included in our Annual Report on Form 20-F for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2007 have not materially changed other than as set forth below:

Crisis in mortgage backed securities markets could negatively impact companies in financial services sector

We derive about 24% of our revenues in Global IT Services from clients in financial services sector. The recent crisis in mortgage backed securities markets has resulted in adverse credit market conditions. The financial services sector has been adversely impacted, some of the companies have suspended or downsized their mortgage operations and some companies have taken huge write offs on mortgage-backed securities. Currently we derive only a negligible portion of our revenues from the financial services sector in the areas directly impacted by this crisis. However, extended periods of adverse credit market conditions can adversely impact US economy in general and financial services companies in particular. This in turn could adversely affect our revenues and profitability.

Appreciation of Indian Rupee against major currencies of the world could negatively impact our revenue and operating results.

A significant portion of our revenues is earned in major currencies of the world while a significant portion of our costs are in Indian rupees. Since April 2007, the Indian rupee has appreciated by 10% against US dollar, 3% against Euro and 6% against Pound Sterling. Continued appreciation of the Indian rupee against the major currencies of the world can adversely affect our revenues and gross margins, and can adversely impact our competitive positioning. We enter into forward exchange contracts to minimize the impact of currency fluctuations on our revenues. However, volatility in exchange rate movement and/or sustained rupee appreciation could negatively impact our revenue and operating results.
